Japanese Forces Control Concession at Hankow.

HANKOW, April 14.—Japanese naval authorities were controlling the Japanese concession here today with a strong contingent of British soldiers. The concession was heavily barricaded. It was announced there was no intention of surrendering it to the Cantonese.

Japanese business interests insisted that the British gave up their concession in Hankow with the friendliest motives so as to be able to continue business and not to endanger life and property. Now, it was added, business was dead and it was dangerous for Britishers to walk on the streets. The Japanese declared they would not be led into a similar trap.

There has been friction recently in Hankow between the Japanese and the Cantonese. It was reported several days ago that Eugene Chen, the Cantonese foreign minister, had made an offer to the Japanese consul that the Nationalist Government would not interfere with the Japanese concession in Hankow, and immediately suppress all anti-Japanese agitation provided Japan agreed not to join Great Britain and the United States in an ultimatum to the Nationalist Government because of the Nanking outrages. Japan joined in a note of protest, however.

After many days of negotiations with Chen, and after a series of anti-British disturbances in Hankow, an agreement was signed on Feb. 19, whereby the concession there was withdrawn from exclusive British control and placed under a joint commission of administration. The British yielded on a number of other points in order to ease the crisis.

Conference of Nationalist Party to Meet in Nanking.

By the Associated Press.
SHANGHAI, April 14.—Intense interest centered in tomorrow's meeting of the Kuomintang (Cantonese political party) at Nanking, summoned by Gen. Chiang-Kai-shek, the Cantonese military chief and moderate leader.

Call for the meeting was issued by Chiang with the reported object of rallying sufficient strength to oust the Hankow radicals from the city. Chiang's opposition to the radicals has reached the stage in the last few days of armed raids on headquarters of the red labor unions in this and other cities, with many casualties.

MRS. CARRINGTON WINS
DIVORCE FOR CRUELTY

Reported to Have Received $100,000—Both She and Colonel Satisfied.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 14.—Mrs. Anna Walsh Snyder Carrington of New York, grandmother and former actress, today obtained a divorce from Col. Edward C. Carrington on the ground of cruelty.

A property settlement agreement was reported to have given Mrs. Carrington $100,000.

The end of the trial, in which the Colonel, 55 years old; his wife, 42, and his brother, Campbell, 50, all grandparents and all divorced, were the triangle, came with the decision of Judge Rush after comparatively brief arguments.

Reports of an agreement having been reached out of court yesterday were followed by withdrawal of charges of misconduct by both sides when the hearing was resumed today.

Colonel Denies Cruelty.

With only the allegations of cruelty by Mrs. Carrington and that of desertion by the Colonel, who, at different times, had named his brother, whom he named as correspondent, and his wife, the trial was resumed with the Colonel on the stand. He denied that he ever had been unfaithful to his wife, and insisted he had not been cruel to her.

"I came here to get a divorce," said the Colonel, "and I got one. The mechanics of it, to whom the degree was awarded, makes little difference. I am free, so is she. We can go our respective ways, and mine points toward Florida. I have wired my guide to get the boat ready and hunt up some bait because I am going to do some heavy fishing."

Mrs. Carrington Happy.

"I am very happy, and am glad the Colonel is, too," said Mrs. Carrington. "No, I am not going to marry Campbell Carrington or any one else for some time. I am going to enjoy a state of single blessedness."

Judge Rush recalled Mrs. Carrington as a witness stand to be sure she understood the details of the property settlement and was entirely satisfied. She said she realized she was relinquishing all future claims to the Colonel's estate.

Campbell Carrington was not in court when the decree was granted.

SUSPECTEDLY SLAIN
BY MAN ARRESTED

But Assailant Escapes, Leaving No Clew—Sheriff Begins Investigation of Murder.

Frank Wieter, 50 years old, City Marshal of Breese, Ill., and a Deputy Sheriff of Clinton County, was shot and killed last night by an unidentified assailant who escaped without leaving a clew.

Wieter's body was found on the sidewalk about 100 feet east of City Hall, in the main business section of the town, by William Chintzlach, who was attracted to the scene in the belief that the form was that of an intoxicated man. Wieter had been shot through the right eye and had been dead about 30 minutes when his body was found at 7:30 p. m.

An investigation is being made on the theory that Wieter was slain by a suspect whom he had arrested, but had failed to search for a weapon before attempting to take him to jail. Wieter's revolver, fully loaded, was in his holster.

Sheriff Joe Ragen of Carlyle was in Breese when the body was found and spent the night in investigation. This morning he arrested a young man with whom Wieter had trouble and took him to Carlyle jail for questioning.

Residents in the vicinity said they heard one of the shots shortly after 7 p. m. but thought at the time it was the backfire of an automobile and did not investigate.

Breese, a town of about 2500 inhabitants, is on Illinois State Highway No. 12, 40 miles from St. Louis. Wieter was the only police officer there, being on duty each evening. During the day the town is without police protection.

Federal prohibition agents last Saturday made a series of house raids in Breese, arresting 11 persons, including Fire Chief Ben Feldman, Deputy Sheriff Ragen and several saloonkeepers.

The slain officer was not known to have had any enemies. He had been City Marshal for four years and a Deputy Sheriff over the same period. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rose Wieter, and two daughters.

Three men, taken from a Baltimore & Ohio freight train in East St. Louis at 1:30 a. m. today, are being held for investigation. The train passed through Breese several hours after Wieter was killed. The prisoners say they boarded the train in Chicago.

CHICAGO SYMPHONY PLAYERS

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 14.—Disbandment of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra is threatened because of demands by the Chicago Federation of Musicians for pay increases. A weekly increase of $20 for the 90 members of the organization was asked.

Henry E. Voegel, manager of the orchestra, notified subscribers that because of the union demands there would either be no symphony series next winter, or at best a shorter season with higher prices. Regular members of the orchestra under the present scale receive $50 a week.

COOLIDGE PARDONS

Executive Clemency of Year

Fraud Principals Made Known by Court Order.

THEY NEVER SERVED
DAY OF SENTENCES

Got Away With Millions,
Then Bribed U. S. Agent and Accused Him and Got Away With That, Too.

By Leased Wire from the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, April 14.—Three of the principals in the Glass Casket Co. stock swindle, sentenced two years ago to the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., for using the mails to defraud, were pardoned by President Coolidge before they had served a day. It became known yesterday. Although the pardons are believed to have been granted more than a year ago, they are not noted in the records of the case. It was said at the Federal building here. They became known through a memorandum of Federal District Judge Hand in suspending the sentence of a minor defendant.

Of 17 men who pleaded guilty or were convicted only two had served their sentences. The swindle is said to have run into millions of dollars.

Samuel Saffir of Chicago, principal stockholder in the Crager System, Inc., who sold the stock of the Glass Casket Co., which never manufactured a casket, was sentenced to serve 2½ years. Samuel Rosenblatt of Chicago, assistant for the concern, 18 months, and Harry A. Sideman, another officer, a year and one day.

Accused Means and Felder.

During the trial they said that they had paid $5,000 to Gaston E. Means, former Department of Justice agent, and the late Thomas B. Felder, lawyer, to have the indictments quashed. Both Means and Felder were convicted of fraud and conspiracy to obstruct justice. Means getting a two-year sentence and a $10,000 fine, and Felder a $10,000 fine.

Hiram C. Todd, named by Attorney-General Daugherty as special Assistant Attorney-General to prosecute Means and Felder, recommended that Saffir, Rosenblatt and Sideman receive executive clemency. The assistant attorney general's recommendation was opposed by former United States Attorney Peter J. McCoy, who prosecuted the Glass Casket case, and by the Postoffice Department.

McCoy said yesterday: "I pointed out that they had bribed Felder and Means and that should have been included in the Means-Felder indictment. The fact that they were not included appeared to me to be sufficient reward for any services they gave."

Judge Criticizes Pardons.

Yesterday, in suspending sentence of year and one day for Joseph Dorn, a lesser defendant, Judge Hand made a memorandum saying:

"In view of the pardon of the three principal defendants—Saffir, Rosenblatt and Sideman—I have decided to suspend sentence upon the other defendants who were convicted. I cannot see why pardon should be granted to the three principal defendants in one case because of their aid to the Government in another case, but as it has been done, it would seem to me more grotesque to require the defendant Dorn or the salesmen in the case, to serve a jail sentence when the principals were pardoned." Eleven salesmen were given suspended sentences by Judge Hand after losing their appeals March 8.

Benjamin Crager, president of the Crager System, Inc., who pleaded guilty and testified for the Government, served six months. His father, Henry Crager, an officer of the company, served one day in the Tombs.

Means the Only Victim Now.

Thus the only person now suffering punishment for the Glass Casket Co. swindle is Gaston E. Means, whose connection was secondary. In December he took the pauper's oath to serve 30 days instead of paying his $10,000 fine. He then was told that his two sentences did not run concurrently, as he had supposed, and that he had before him another two years of imprisonment and another $10,000 fine to serve out.

By the Associated Press.
GREENVILLE, S. C., April 14.—Earl Carroll, theatrical producer, who collapsed yesterday and was removed here from the train bearing him to the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary, where he is to serve one year and a day for perjury, showed slight signs of improvement today, his physicians reported, although he had entered the thirty-first hour of coma at 2 p. m.

Dr. O. Bates said the patient "is rapidly regaining use of muscles that were inert yesterday and we hope he may recover consciousness during the day." The physicians so far have been unable to find the cause of the collapse, he said.

Wife Arrives at Greenville.

James Carroll, the producer's brother, also said there had been a favorable turn. He described the collapse as due to mental strain. Mrs. Marcelle Carroll, the producer's wife, and Mrs. Alice C. Snyder, his sister, and Norman Carroll, his brother, arrived here this afternoon from New York.

Dr. Bates said the coma had not been caused by any disease of the type usually producing unconsciousness, and that the exact cause of the illness had not been ascertained. He added that it might have been brought on by nervous exhaustion, as in rare cases this had been known to produce a condition similar to Carroll's.

"The patient is improving," Dr. McGehee said. "My opinion is in accord with that of the local physician."

Heart Action Good.

Carroll fell into a coma as the train entered Western South Carolina, and when removed to a hospital virtually was unable to move. From the first, however, his heart action has remained good and this encouraged his physicians who, nevertheless, at one time yesterday regarded his condition as serious.

Since Carroll is not known to have any relatives in the South, before boarding the prison car New York, physicians have no knowledge of what prompted his collapse. An examination of the patient's stomach failed to disclose any reason, and at the Department of Justice in Washington officials, although refusing to divulge the grounds on which the producer recently sought executive clemency, said he had not contended he was in poor health.

By the Associated Press.
SUPERIOR, Wis., April 14.—Miss Lulu Dickinson, whose discharge as English teacher at Central High School precipitated a student strike, lay ill at the home of a friend here today. The strain of her hearing before the Board of Education yesterday was too much for her and she collapsed on leaving the hall.

She was dismissed March 14 for "unprofessional conduct," following charges that she had criticized school board policies to pupils. Two weeks later high school students struck. Since then the strike has spread. Yesterday 600 junior high school students from five schools joined the 1300 strikers from three senior high schools, demanding the teacher's reinstatement.

NO GREAT DAMAGE REPORTED THUS FAR

Rain Every Day but Four in April Brings Precipitation
Here This Month to 3.97 Inches.

Rain, which has been falling generally in the Mississippi Valley for most of this month, is causing the worst flood in the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers since 1922 and has sent smaller streams of Illinois and Missouri out of their banks.

A letup of the rain is not yet in sight, and still higher stages are forecast for the rivers. So far, no great property damage has been reported, although in many sections bottom lands are inundated and homes of lowland dwellers under water, and levees along the lower Mississippi are threatened with breaks. When the water recedes it may be found that early crops have been badly damaged.

Today was the eighth consecutive day of rain in St. Louis and vicinity, and there has been a downpour here every day of April except the 2d, 3d, 5th and 6th. Precipitation for the 24 hours ending this morning was 4.2 of an inch, making the total for April so far 3.97 inches, while the normal for the whole month is 3.52.

Rain has been and continues general throughout the southwest and in the lower Missouri and Ohio Valleys.

County Roads Suffer.

Streets and roads in the St. Louis district have suffered in particular from the deluge, and mud, especially in St. Louis County, are in bad condition. Although there has been very little sunshine and chilly temperature, trees are going into leaf and flowers developing.

For the next three days the Mississippi will rise steadily from the deluge, and tomorrow, Monday, will reach 25 feet at Hannibal, Mo., 14.2 feet today, flood stage 12, forecast not received; Grafton, 22.8 today, flood 18, forecast 24 by Saturday; Alton, 27.1 today, flood 21, forecast 28.2 by Saturday; St. Louis, 31.9 today, rise of 1.2 since yesterday, flood 20, forecast 22.8 by tomorrow and 33.5 by Saturday; Chester, Ill., 31.3 today, flood 27, forecast 32 by Sunday; Cape Girardeau, Mo., 37 today, flood 30, forecast 39 by Sunday; if levees hold; Cairo, Ill., 53.6 today, flood 45, forecast 55.5 by Sunday or Monday; New Madrid, Mo., 40.8 yesterday, flood 34, forecast 45 by Tuesday; Memphis, Tenn., 42.6 today, flood 38, forecast not received.

On the Missouri River.

The Missouri River will fall slowly from Lexington to Brunswick, Mo., and below there will be the next two days, reaching 24.5 feet Saturday at Hermann, where flood mark is 21, and today's reading was 23.5, and 30.2 Sunday at St. Charles, where flood is 25 and the gauge was 29 today. The Osage has begun to fall at Warsaw, Mo., where it has been 10 feet above flood level, but by tomorrow will reach 32.5 at Tusculuma, where flood is 25.

There is a small flood in the Grand River at Chillicothe and Brunswick. The Meramec is rising slowly and will reach 25 feet at Valley Park Saturday. It was 20 feet there today, six feet above flood mark. The Illinois is rising gradually below Beardstown, Ill., and will reach 22.2 feet there Saturday and 21 feet at Pearl, 40 miles above Grafton. On Sunday the Ohio River will reach 40 feet at Shawneetown, Ill., and 46.5 at Paducah, Ky.

The following main roads are reported closed by floods and washouts: Nearly all those in Missouri north of the Missouri River except the St. Louis-Kansas City-St. Joseph highway; No. 67 in Wayne County, Mo., 40 between Bird's Point and Poplar Bluff; No. 65 north of Springfield, Mo.; No. 1, southeast of Edwardsville; No. 2 near Hannibal.

By the Associated Press.
MINEOLA, N. Y., April 14.—Bert Acosta and Clarence D. Chamberlin, American civilian aviators, landed at 12:42 o'clock this afternoon, after setting a new record for endurance flying by remaining in the air for 51 hours 12 minutes.

As soon as the plane landed the cheering crowd broke through police lines and swarmed about the plane and the two flyers who had been in the air more than two days.

As Chamberlin and Acosta shoved their heads from the cabin after the plane came to a stop they were seized and drawn out by the crowd and carried about the field on the shoulders of the enthusiastic spectators. As soon as the flyers could be extricated from their admirers they entered a limousine with their wives and drove away.

For half an hour before landing the plane hung above the field at an altitude of 3000 feet, circling slowly backward and forward. At 12:35 o'clock it dropped toward the earth and the spectators cheered as they thought a landing was about to be made, but the plane banked off and climbed again, repeating this performance a second time before the actual landing was made.

The landing was described as an excellent example of good flying. The plane landed without apparent shock on the runway and glided to a graceful stop at 12:42 o'clock.

Six Hours Better Than Record.

The record-breaking performance eclipsed by six hours the previous world's record of 46 hours 11 minutes set by the French.

By the time of the landing the crowd had swelled to thousands and was held in check by ropes stretched along the runway and by police reserves called out when the throng became unmanageable.

At 10:30 only 10 gallons of gasoline were left in the plane's tank and up to that time the engine had been running on the last of the fuel. The last 10 gallons lasted for two hours and 12 minutes.

The old record was established by the French flyers, Drouhin and Landry at Etampes, France, in August, 1925. It was the third record broken by the Americans since they started on their endurance flight over Long Island at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday.

The flight, in addition to an attempt to set a new world's endurance record, was in the nature of a test prior to a proposed non-stop New York-to-Paris flight in competition for the $25,000 prize offered by Raymond Orteig.

Three New Records Announced.

Announcement of the new world record was made by Carl S. Schory, secretary of the National Aeronautics Association, who was the official observer at the flight.

By the Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 14.—A motion to dismiss the Marion County grand jury because of alleged efforts to bribe one of the jurors was filed in Criminal Court today by Will H. Remy, County Prosecutor. The grand jury recently resumed investigation into charges of political corruption in the State.

Remy in his motion alleged that Claude H. Achey, a member of the grand jury, had been approached by James E. Armitage with an offer of $2600 in cash and a "job" if Achey would refuse to indict John L. Duval, Mayor of Indianapolis. Armitage is a brother of William H. H. Armitage, a local political leader.

Judge James A. Collins excused the grand jury until Monday morning, when he is expected to rule on the motion.

An affidavit by Achey was presented by Remy along with his motion.

In the affidavit, Achey said he had been asked by Armitage to favor Duval and that Armitage had told him he "had two other members of the jury but needed another one."

The juror did not disclose whether the position offered him was for Duval or just "a job." He added that the offer was made in a conversation with Armitage about March 1. Achey added that he "turned the proposition down," the last time he talked with Armitage.

A day or two later, he said, Armitage told him that the proposition had fallen through and he could not fulfill the agreement.

DESCRIBES WALKING ON FLOOR OF OCEAN

H. H. Langenberg, Who Accompanied War Secretary, Tells of Experiences.

After a two weeks' visit to the West Indies and Panama with Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis, Harry H. Langenberg of 43 Westmoreland place, a grain broker, returned to St. Louis yesterday. He came from New York, having left Panama April 3.

Secretary Davis made the journey to inspect air and submarine defense on the Atlantic side of the canal and Langenberg, an old friend, accompanied him as a companion. At Port au Prince, capital of Haiti, they came upon William Beebe's scientific expedition quartered there for the winter studying the marine life and made a descent to the tropical sea.

At Beebe's invitation, Davis and Langenberg embarked on a launch to a coral reef 12 miles offshore, where they were fitted with diving helmets and lowered 20 feet to the ocean floor. They made two descents each of about 15 minutes duration.

"We put on bathing suits and diving flippers," Langenberg related, "and the helmets were slipped over our shoulders. The helmets weighed 60 pounds and strapped over the chest, with a clear glass face and an oxygen tube at the top. We climbed down the ladder and walked around on the ocean floor, looking at the fish, which were of every color of the rainbow. They showed no fear at all, rubbing and nibbling at our bodies and seeming to peer into the helmet glass."

Davis and Langenberg left New York March 17, going to Port Rico, thence to the Island of Haiti, where they drove from Santo Domingo to Port au Prince. Thence they shipped to the Panama Canal, going through to the Pacific side. Langenberg commented on the popularity with which Secretary Davis was received in the various cities of the West Indies, where numerous dinners were given in his honor. It being his first trip to tropical America, Langenberg expressed surprise at the prosperity and natural beauty of Porto Rico, Santo Domingo and Haiti.

$12,000,000 FOR REVOLVING FUND TO BE PROPOSED

MADE POSSIBLE BY CHARTER CHANGES

Time for Election Not Determined — Securities Would Be Paid Off From Proceeds of Work.

A bond issue, in an amount tentatively set at $12,000,000, will be proposed to the voters, for establishment of a revolving fund for street and sewer improvement work, Mayor Miller announced today. The time when the proposal will be submitted has not been determined. The next regular election is in November, 1928.

The Mayor sent a letter to all the improvement associations, thanking them for the help rendered by them in the passage of the seven charter amendments at last week's election. The amendments, which are designed to simplify and shorten the charter provisions for street and sewer construction, also provided a measure empowering the city to establish the revolving fund, if it shall choose to do so by bond issue or otherwise.

The Mayor expressed the view that the improvement bodies were entitled to the greater part of the credit for passing the amendments, as he said they "made it possible to get the needed funds for the city or general educational campaign."

He wrote to the organizations several weeks ago, asking them to work in their neighborhoods for the measure.

Mayor Miller Amendments. He said the need for changes in the "so-called new Charter" became evident soon after the Charter was adopted in 1914, and that subordinate officials called attention to this need as early as 1916, and periodically thereafter, "but no action was taken until after I became Mayor."

Amendment No. 4 is the enabling act for the establishment of a revolving fund. The Mayor estimated that a fund of $12,000,000 would be about right to care for an annual program of $5,000,000 street, alley and sewer construction work, and to this need as early as 1916, and periodically thereafter, "but no action was taken until after I became Mayor."

In earlier discussions of the proposed amendment $3,000,000 was mentioned as the possible amount for a fund. The Mayor has decided that this would not be enough, but the final proposal may be for less than $12,000,000. The bonds would be paid off from the proceeds of the work, he said.

Effect of Other Changes. Outlining the expected effect of the other amendments passed, the Mayor said they would reduce the former heavy charge on corner lots on streets being improved; would reduce the minimum time for legal proceedings in improvement work from 32 weeks to 15 weeks; and would accelerate the work further by exempting such measures from the provisions of the referendum. Heretofore measures have had to wait 40 days for the possible filing of referendum petitions, though the referendum has never been invoked in such a case, and would be unlikely ever to be used, as the measures are narrowly local in character.

Worst Flood in 5 Years in Valley of Mississippi

North of Cairo, Ill.; most of the lands of Southern Kansas and Oklahoma.

Arkansas River levees have broken at several places in Arkansas and flooded great areas. Army guards are patrolling levees of Arkansas and adjacent states. An attempt was made to dynamite a St. Francis River levee at Pettysville, Ark., yesterday. The flood has entered the residential section of Van Buren, Ark.

Persons traveling by boat on the Black River, Lower Concordia Parish, La., elsewhere, are threatened by snakes, which have been driven to trees and drop into the water.

Mississippi levee in front of Columbus, Ky., is slowly crumbling, and villages are moving to higher grounds. The levee is not expected to hold against the 50-foot stage forecast for Saturday, but repairs are in progress. Opposite, at Dumas, Mo., a levee is washing badly.

The levee at Albridge, Ill., about 20 miles north of Cairo on the Mississippi, was reported to have broken at noon today.

Residents Move in Box Cars. Residents of McClure, Reynolds, and Warren, Mo., opposite Cape Girardeau, moved out today as water poured through a break in a drainage canal, and they were housed in box cars of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, whose tracks reached clear. Fear was expressed that levees near Cape Girardeau would not stand the additional high water forecast.

Banks of two drainage canals in or near East St. Louis broke today and the swollen waters spread over surrounding land. A quarter-mile section of Canal No. 11, at a place about a mile and a half north of the Ninth street subway, caved in. Piles of sandbags had been placed on top of the usual earth mound to hold the flood in the canal. The water rushed southward into Indian Lake bottoms, which extend to the subway, and increased the menace to a pumping plant which has been operating in the bottoms for days in an effort to keep down the level of surface water, and to the National Highway, the main road east.

Wall Highway With Sandbags. The bottoms already were flooded and the Levee Board had erected barriers in hope of protecting the pumps, which are only a few inches above water now. Other workmen have been busy walling a half-mile section of the highway with sandbags. There is a foot of water on the road in places, and the other side of the highway was flooded. Motor travel continued, however.

The other break was in the Harding Canal, near Fifty-ninth street and Ohio avenue, about six blocks north of State street. This occurred at 1 p. m. Five houses were flooded, and residents appealed for police aid.

About 20 houses are under water at East Carondelet and about 60 at Alton, where the ferry has stopped running.

For the second time since Tuesday, a section of water main breaking and a washout but the company said there was enough in the town tank to last till the break could be repaired. Much of the American Bottoms, west of the Edwardsville bluffs, is inundated, and the Mississippi has backed up near Wood River, Ill. Sewer inadequacy has flooded some streets and basements in Granite City.

Protecting Power Lines. Towers carrying power lines from the Kookuk dam to St. Louis are being protected with rocks and cement sacks in the low point of St. Charles county, where backwater menaces them. Hundreds of acres of the point, near the mouth of the Missouri, are flooded. Five hundred acres of wheat in St. Louis County, opposite St. Charles, are under water.

A landslide early yesterday near Rocheport, Mo., 178 miles northwest of St. Louis, forced detours for Missouri-Kansas-Texas trains, but was cleared this morning. Another slide at Kerens, Mo., 129 miles south of here, stopped Frisco Railway traffic for three hours.

For several days Kirkwood, Ferguson and other places have been splashing through a foot or so of water north of Brentwood.

A Kiss From Mrs. Coolidge. By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 14.—A gift of flowers from children of the Salvation Army Home at Lytton Springs, Cal., won a kiss from Mrs. Coolidge today for two little Washington Salvation Army children.

The flowers, sent here by airplane and accompanied by a letter from Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco, were presented to Mrs. Coolidge by Keitha Holz and Robert Rose, whose parents are Salvation Army officers here.

Bullfighting Hero of Mexico Visits St. Louis

my Thevenow because of his easy grace.

Gets $7,000 a Performance. During his career Silvetti has dispatched about 1300 bulls. He gets between $7,000 and $10,000 for each appearance and is worth several hundred thousand dollars. An expert pistol and rifle shot and a tireless hunter, he is also an enthusiastic driver of his speedy Italian automobile and is a qualified aviator.

As an example of the privileges his popularity brings, Silvetti calmly appropriated a locomotive several years ago and drove it about 50 miles before he tired of the sport. No one had the temerity to rebuke him.

In his ring career he has been going 32 times. Four of his ribs are missing and his sinewy body is literally mottled with scars. And yet, as he told a St. Louis physician who examined him yesterday and found his condition perfect, he has never taken an anesthetic for an operation, even including an extensive abdominal incision which followed one injury.

"I just hold a towel between my teeth and let the doctor go ahead," he said. "It does not hurt so much."

De la Rosa is only 25 years old, but he has already killed about 800 bulls. He began his career at the age of 10, as have other famous matadors, by engaging small bulls in country pastures. He and Silvetti were accompanied by Vicente del Hoyo Montanes, a former torero, now a bull fight promoter.

The public adulation which is his has left him without apparent ego and he discussed with the enthusiasm of a boy the training methods he employs. He was inclined to be more reticent about his exploits in the bull ring.

"I have been fighting 16 years," he said, through an interpreter. "That is, since I was 25 years old. I go to bed every night at 8 o'clock and I am up at 5. I eat much food, but I take only one meal a day, and drink liquor ever so sparingly. No cigarettes, either, because they affect the wind, but I like a good cigar. In St. Louis I have a hard time to exercise, but yesterday before I ate I walked around the block 50 times or so. I was walking all morning."

Silvetti's dashing, spectacular style has caused Americans to say he is to the bull ring what Babe Ruth is to baseball, while his slimmer, more youthful associate, De la Rosa, is more frequently compared to such a ballplayer as Tom

Apollo—Interpretive—in the Wurlitzer Grand

ONLY a slight electric cord reveals the presence in the instrument of the wonderful Art-Apollo—interpretive action. Yields music that is true and exact reproduction of the expression of the great pianists of the world—it plays the music, re-creates the rolls, shuts itself off or repeats without guidance or attention of any kind. The action itself is well-nigh invisible, and in no way interferes with hand playing when desired.

TWO-YEAR TERM FOR DEATH BY TAXI FIRST OF ITS KIND

Sentence of O'Neal Fisher Only Instance Where Extreme Carelessness or Flight Wasn't Charged.

The sentence of two years in the penitentiary voted by a jury yesterday in the case of O'Neal Fisher, 31 years old, taxicab chauffeur charged with manslaughter, was the first prison penalty imposed here in an automobile manslaughter case unsupported by evidence of extreme carelessness or felonious flight from the scene of accident.

Fisher's taxicab killed Mrs. Genevieve Krewinghaus, 52 years old, of 4966 Lotus avenue, at Grand boulevard and Cook avenue, as she crossed the street after attending midnight mass at Rock Church, Christmas morning, 1925. In spite of testimony of several eyewitnesses, a dented fender and the fact that Mrs. Krewinghaus' prayer book was found on his running board, Fisher stubbornly denied his machine had struck her.

Fisher was driving south in Grand boulevard and Mrs. Krewinghaus was crossing from east to west, with her daughter, Octavia, 13. Octavia testified she stepped backward and her mother ran ahead when the taxicab bore down on them. The machine zigzagged in front of her, she said, and she did not see her mother when the car struck her.

Witness Tells of Crash. C. H. Vanwell of 3809A Evans avenue, who was crossing a short distance behind, said he heard a crash and saw Mrs. Krewinghaus' body thrown in front of the taxicab, which he and other witnesses said was several feet ahead of other machines moving south.

Police Sgt. Michael Stanton of Newstead Avenue Station, on duty, arrested Fisher. He said Fisher drove him to Dayton Street Station, evidencing no sign of flight, though Sgt. J. H. O'Gorman, in charge there, declared the chauffeur staggered and was obviously "too intoxicated to drive."

Patrolman Ralph Whitworth declared Fisher spoke incoherently, and was unable to stand on one foot or walk a white line at City Hospital, where he was examined.

Sgt. O'Gorman said he examined the taxicab at the station and discovered a dented right front fender and Mrs. Krewinghaus' small leather-bound prayerbook on the running board.

Gives Varying Testimony. Fisher, who lives at 3622 Hickory street, was the only defense witness. He told an inconsistent story varying the respective positions of various machines on the street in direct and cross-examination. He declared he did not strike the woman and had no idea whose car did strike her. Asked why he stopped diagonally in the street, he replied once that Sgt. Stanton had ordered him to stop, and later explained he halted because of the crowd in the street.

The jury deliberated for three hours, members explaining afterwards that they thought the testimony of eyewitnesses was conclusive. The fact that the prayerbook was on the running board was not considered, they explained, inasmuch as it might easily have been laid there in the confusion following the accident. Fisher's attorney announced an appeal would be taken.

Discovery on Sprague River (Ore.) Staked Out Before Word Is Said About It.

By The Associated Press. KIAMATH FALLS, Ore., April 14.—C. W. Ebbetts, former mining man, made a gold strike last week on Sprague River, near here. Specimens were quietly sent to an assay office and were reported worth $22 to $25 a ton in gold and $10 to $31 in platinum.

The entire Sprague River Community joined in a secrecy pact until all claims were staked out. The noiseless gold rush ended last night, when it was announced that from 40 to 50 claims had been taken.

Gov. Fuller Refuses to Consider Matter Until After Legislative Adjourns.

By The Associated Press. BOSTON, April 14.—With a move by the Legislature rendered improbable by an opinion of the Attorney-General and a statement by Gov. Fuller that he would not consider the case of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti until the Legislature adjourns, it appears that 10 days at least will elapse before there is a development in the fight to save the condemned men from the electric chair.

Attorney-General Reading declared that under the Constitution the power of pardon and review rested solely with the Governor and his Council, and that a commission requested in a resolution by Representative R. D. Sawyer to investigate the case of the two radicals would be powerless.

By a rising vote, 5 to 146, the Massachusetts House today refused to suspend the rules and consider the Sawyer resolution.

Gov. Fuller said that he anticipated that the Legislature would be adjourned by the last of next week. Letters and cablegrams, favorable and unfavorable to the condemned men, continue to reach the office of the Governor and he said that he would continue to read them. Many circulars were placed in the mails by the Defense Committee designed to bring back a flood of petitions for clemency for the men, who were sentenced to die during the week of July 10.

ACCORD VERDICT IN FIRST AUTO FATALITY IN 14 DAYS

Coroner Vitt Commends Work of St. Louis Safety Council and Other Organizations.

Following the return of a verdict of accident today in the death of Edward Born, city fireman, who was killed Tuesday when the fire truck on which he was riding overturned in front of 1533 Benton street, Coroner Vitt pointed out that it was the first auto fatality in the city for a period of 14 days and remarked upon the work of the St. Louis Safety Council and other organizations engaged in spreading safety-first propaganda.

In a corresponding period in April, 1925, he said, there were six automobile deaths, and in 1926 there were five.

GUEST SAVED IN FIRE AT HOTEL MISSOURI

John P. Gorman, 61, With Injured Ankle, Rescued, and Others Routed by Smoke.

Guests of the Hotel Missouri, in the City Club Building at Eleventh and Locust streets, were routed from their beds at 3:45 a. m. today by heavy smoke from a smoldering fire in which John P. Gorman, 61 years old, guest in room 212, was seriously burned.

Gorman, still partly incapacitated as a result of breaking his ankle last December in a fall on the ice, was several attempts before they were routed from his burning bed by Patrolman William F. Pippa, a Negro bellboy named Robinson, and J. X. Kinberger, a guest on the same floor.

At city hospital Gorman said he believed the fire was started by a cigarette, which probably fell from his lips as he dozed after awakening for a smoke.

Patrolman Pippa was passing the building when he smelled smoke. He went into the hotel to ask where the fire was and at the same time the telephone operator notified Gorman's telephone receiver was off the hook, but that he did not answer the phone. The operator thought he also heard means.

Pippa and the bellboy went up to investigate. Heavy smoke burst from the room as they opened the door. Joined by Kinberger, they made several attempts before they succeeded in getting into the room.

Gorman, still in bed, was dragged into the hall and the mattress, still burning, was thrown from the window, to fall on a roof five floors below. Guests were awakened by the noise of the rescue and by firemen. Many of them, particularly women, ran from their rooms in night clothing to leave the building, but hotel employees reassured them.

Gorman, manager of the silk department of the Rice-Six Dry Goods Co., was burned on the legs, arms and body. The fire was extinguished by hotel employees after the room. Damage was $300.

2-STORY STREETS NOT SO FAR AWAY, EXPERT DECLARES

New Era of Municipal Transportation Visioned by C. F. Abbott in Speech to Builders.

PRaises EFFICIENCY OF THE SKYSCRAPER

Discussing Over-Production He Cites That 180,000 Corporations Lost Money in 1926.

Pedestrians of the future may walk on balconies, sidewalks, high above the streets, and in their business journeys of the day may traverse bridges from one skyscraper to another, says Charles F. Abbott, executive director of the American Institute of Steel Construction, who spoke last night at a dinner attended by structural steel fabricators, engineers, architects and contractors at Hotel Statler.

"We are entering upon a new era of municipal transportation in which vertical circulation by means of elevators in tall buildings will more and more tend to replace pedestrian and wheeled traffic on the horizontal streets," Abbott said. "It would be idle to deny that such transportation is more rapid, and more efficient than street traffic can ever become."

"The skyscraper is the most efficient building known to man. It concentrates under one roof, with quick and easy access to each other, a large group of men and women whom the streets would otherwise have to provide space for during many hours of the business day."

"The suggestion that the limitation of building heights would automatically relieve traffic congestion may not be altogether sound. This problem can be solved, by constructive rather than destructive measures. Two-story streets sound visionary, but such streets are in use and others are being planned. It would be a comparatively simple matter to construct all future buildings in the business centers of our large cities with a view to ultimately cantilevering sidewalks from the second floor levels."

"This would make possible the broadening of present streets, no longer used by pedestrians, by the width of the sidewalk. Still further breadth could be given by arched within the building lines. Space would thus be provided for parking, or for loading and unloading."

Lee H. Miller, chief engineer of the American Institute of Steel Construction, also spoke.
Crisis of Overproduction.
Abbott addressed a luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday on the crisis of overproduction which he alleged exists in America today. The prevailing report from all industries, he said, ran to the effect that business is active, that firms are operating on a very slim margin, at profit or no profit at all, and that output is greater than the consumption. The last condition is so marked, Abbott declared, that it indicates the need for a revolutionary method of merchandising, in order to open new markets or reawaken old ones.

He said that industries which were unorganized in co-operative efforts to boost their products had felt serious declines in trade. He cited in this connection, the merchandising of meat, three years ago a drug on the market and a jest among foods, but now a sober respectable commodity with a right to a place on the best hotel menus. Similar co-operative campaigns in advertising and marketing had resulted favorably for steel, reinforced concrete, apples, and many other commodities, he said.

Statistics on Losses.
"An analysis of corporation tax returns for last year showed that of 417,321 corporations, only 55 per cent were able to close the year with profits," Abbott said. "More than 180,000 corporations operated at a loss. Only 55 per cent of the really large corporations made money, only 22 per cent of the tire companies made money."

"We are producing, in every field, much more than we can consume, and new methods of merchandising are demanded. The old-time competition has gone forever. Every industry must get together and think of its markets. Markets are the paramount issue in American business today."

Students Strike to Keep Teacher.
By the Associated Press.
AYON, N. Y., April 14.—After 12 days on strike, pupils of Ayon High School decided they would return to classes today and circulate throughout the village petitions demanding the Board of Education reinstate John R. Gerfen as principal. Charges were made recently that Gerfen opened "regents" examination papers two days prior to the tests last June, and gave pupils in his class special instruction to enable them to pass. An investigation by the State Board of Education exonerated the principal.

"We are entering upon a new era of municipal transportation in which vertical circulation by means of elevators in tall buildings will more and more tend to replace pedestrian and wheeled traffic on the horizontal streets," Abbott said. "It would be idle to deny that such transportation is more rapid, and more efficient than street traffic can ever become."

Praises Skyscraper's Efficiency. "The skyscraper is the most efficient building known to man. It concentrates under one roof, with quick and easy access to each other, a large group of men and women whom the streets would otherwise have to provide space for during many hours of the business day."

"The suggestion that the limitation of building heights would automatically relieve traffic congestion may not be altogether sound. This problem can be solved by constructive rather than destructive measures. Two-story streets sound visionary, but such streets are in use and others are being planned. It would be comparatively simple matter to construct all future buildings in the business centers of our large cities with a view to ultimately cantilevering sidewalks from the second floor levels."

"This would make possible the broadening of present streets, no longer used by pedestrians, by the width of the sidewalk. Still further breadth could be given by arched within the building lines. Space would thus be provided for parking, or for loading and unloading."

Lee H. Miller, chief engineer of the American Institute of Steel Construction, also spoke.

Crisis of Overproduction. Abbott addressed a luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday on the crisis of overproduction which he alleged exists in America today. The prevailing report from all industries, he said, ran to the effect that business is active, that firms are operating on a very slim margin of profit or no profit at all, and that output is greater than the consumption. The last condition is so marked, Abbott declared, that it indicates the need for a revolutionary method of merchandising, in order to open new markets or reawaken old ones.

He said that industries which were unorganized, in co-operative efforts to boost their products had felt serious declines in trade. He cited in this connection, the merchandising of sauerkraut, three years ago a drug on the market and a jest among foods, but now a sober respectable commodity with a right to a place on the best hotel menus. Similar co-operative campaigns in advertising and marketing had resulted favorably for steel, reinforced concrete, apples, and many other commodities, he said.

Statistics on Losses. "An analysis of corporation tax returns for last year showed that of 417,331 corporations, only 55 per cent were able to close the year with profits," Abbott said. "More than 180,000 corporations operated at a loss. Only 35 per cent of the really large corporations made money, only 32 per cent of the tire companies made money."

"We are producing, in every field, much more than we can consume, and new methods of merchandising are demanded. The old-time competition has gone forever. Every industry must get together and think of its markets. Markets are the paramount issue in American business today."

Students Strike to Keep Teacher. By the Associated Press.

AVON, N. Y., April 14.—After two days on strike, pupils of Avon High School declared they would return to classes today and circulate throughout the village petition demanding the Board of Education reinstate John R. Gerfin as principal. Charges were made recently that Gerfin opened "regents" examination papers two days prior to the tests last June, and gave pupils in his class special instruction to enable them to pass. An investigation by the State Board of Education exonerated the principal.

ARMS CONFERENCE FEARING FAILURE TAKES A RECESS

Disagreement Is on the Supervision of Armaments, Session Will Reconvene Next Thursday.

PESSIMISTIC TALK
BY FRENCH DELEGATE

Paul Boncour Says Program of Disarmament Is Over-Ambitious for Present Realization.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, April 14.—The preliminary commission for a disarmament conference, which has been fruitlessly seeking an accord on the problem of international supervision of armaments, adjourned to next Thursday shortly after assembling today.

Adjournment was forced by the majority members, who foresaw an inconclusive debate on the supervision question. It was feared that further increase in the nervous tension of the delegates would imperil all chances of success.

M. Paul-Boncour, the French delegate, yesterday told newspaper correspondents that the conference had done nothing more than to elucidate the main difficulties without solving any of them.

Frenchman Pessimistic.
He viewed pessimistically the possibilities of an immediate agreement and expressed the belief that the program of disarmament was over-ambitious for present realization.

Announcement by the American delegation that the United States is unable to accept international control and supervision in carrying out the provisions of any general disarmament treaty, was followed by a similar announcement by Italy.

The Italian declaration weakened the project, offered by the French as a compromise by which international supervision would have been applied to league members only. As Italy is a member of the League of Nations, the Italian stand upset the French plan.

Argentinian for Supervision.
The Argentine delegate told the commission that any treaty would be incomplete and ineffective without an international organism of supervision, that would consider the complaints of States which feared their security was threatened.

M. Paul-Boncour declared that supervision, with the right of investigation, was as important for France as the problem of naval tonnage.

Belgian Compromise Plan.
Louis de Broeckere of Belgium, in an effort to rescue the conference from its deadlock, today introduced a project to make two draft conventions, one for League members, which would include provisions for international control and inquiry into treaty violations, the other for non-League members, particularly the United States, without supervision stipulations.

Exemption of the United States was approved by all the delegates as reasonable, and there were numerous tributes to the effect that the world could depend on American good faith. Russia's neighbors, however, immediately pointed out that a similar exception could not be made for the Soviet Union, which is also a nonmember of the League. They left the inference that Russia could not be allowed to subscribe to the disarmament convention minus supervision regulations.

PROSECUTOR ISSUES WARNING TO BOSTON BOOKSELLER

Jail Sentences Instead of Fines Also Intimated for Future Violations of Statutes.

By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, April 14.—A 12-year "gentleman's agreement" between Boston book sellers and the District Attorney's office was shattered today, and Prosecutor William J. Foley had stiffened his earlier ban against Sinclair Lewis' new novel "Elmer Gantry" with the announcement that hereafter vendors must use their own judgment or face legal consequences.

Book sellers' troubles were augmented by the further announcement that jail sentences, rather than fines, would be the rule.

The dilemma seemed even greater in view of the fact that when a number of best sellers recently were cleared from the shelves by voluntary co-operation with the District Attorney, a committee, representing the book sellers, took the position that no man could be expected to read everything printed and offered for sale, even if he devoted his time exclusively to the task. To this, however, Foley's letter said:

"I shall expect that your committee will hereafter prevent the sale by its members of books or other publications which violate the provisions of the statute by the exercise of your own sound common sense. If your committee does not do this, I shall, of course, be compelled to take action."

The penalty is imprisonment for not more than two years and a fine of not less than $100 and not more than $1,000.

CAN GET MATCHES NOW, SAYS BOY, 4, WHO KILLED MOTHER

Child Boastful in Telling Coroner Reason for Shooting His Parent.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 14.—A four-year-old Thomas Ruby shot and killed his mother, Mrs. Hull Ruby, Wednesday because she had refused to allow him to play with matches.

The child so incensed Coroner Shull.

Tommy slipped up behind his mother while she was planting seeds in her garden and fired a shot from a pistol through her neck.

The boy told the Coroner he never had had a toy pistol, but knew the real one which he had found on a shelf in the kitchen, would "go off" if he pulled the trigger. "Now I can get matches," he said somewhat boastfully.

Coroner Shull announced that he would not hold an inquest.

Tommy slipped up behind his mother while she was planting seeds in her garden and fired a bullet from a pistol through her neck. The boy told the Coroner he never had had a toy pistol, but saw the real one which he had found on a shelf in the kitchen, would "go off" if he pulled the trigger. "Now I can get matches," he said somewhat boastfully. Coroner Shull announced that he could not hold an inquest.$1,500,000 Fire at Morgantown.
MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 14.—An entire business block was destroyed by fire today, causing damage variously estimated at between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000.

TO AID AMERICANS IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, April 14.—As a result of a personal conversation with Foreign Minister Saenz, Ambassador James R. Sheffield has hopes that Americans arrested or detained in Mexico in the future will not be held incommunicado, but will be permitted to communicate with the American Embassy or Consulate.

No formal representations were made, but it was learned that Ambassador Sheffield took the occasion of a personal talk with the foreign Minister to express a strong desire that no American detained by the Mexican authorities be denied permission to communicate with representatives of the American Government.

ROSSINI TESTIFIES IN HIS $104,000 SUIT

Music Teacher and Opera Singer Tells of Falling Off in His Earnings.

The arrival of the Sheriff is seldom without its embarrassments and a jury in Circuit Judge Kilgore's court must decide today whether it damaged to the extent of $104,000 M. A. Rossini, music teacher and opera singer, to have a Deputy Sheriff arrive just before the curtain went up on a grand opera at the Odeon in March, 1924.

"Gentlemen, the Sheriff," so said Rossini, did he introduce Deputy Sheriff Julius Goldsmith to the members of the St. Louis Grand Opera Co. He wished to be polite. Despite the fact that Deputy Sheriff Goldsmith's arrival had interrupted Signor Rossini as he was attaching the beard of Monsieur Duval, pere—it was La Traviata that night—Signor Rossini wished to show him no discourtesy.

"But he wouldn't listen when I try to tell him about the opera," Rossini complained. "He says, 'I do not know about opera. I am a Deputy Sheriff. I serve attachments.' He said we must not leave, no, and then he took the box office receipts."

For this indignity Signor Rossini asks redress. The visit of Deputy Sheriff Goldsmith to the opera, a rare event, was caused by the St. Louis Poster Advertising Co., which had a bill for $292 against the management of the management of the opera company. Rossini asserted yesterday that the poster company should pay him damages $4000 for the money he thinks he would have made if the attachment had not been brought, and $100,000 for damages to his reputation. He told the jury that before the Deputy Sheriff's visit he was making $1000 a month as a music teacher. Afterwards people said—so Signor Rossini told the jury—"Ah, that Rossini. He is no good. He does not pay his bills." The receipts of Rossini dropped to $200 a month, he testified.

He declared that he did not manage the St. Louis Grand Opera Co., a group of St. Louis Italians who lost $8000 in four days trying to make grand opera pay here.

The witness asserted with feeling that he had nothing to do with the business management of the company, but was merely its "artistic director," and when the Deputy Sheriff called he was innocently engaged in helping Monsieur Duval, pere, put on his beard.

SUES TO RECOVER PATENTS USED BY "PURITY" JONES

P. C. Bruckmann Also Asks for Return of $5000 He Put Into Laundry Machine Enterprise.

Peter Carl Bruckmann, the inventor, on whose patents "Purity" Jones built up the David Jones Co., laundry machine manufacturers, only to have it fall for a loss of $1,900,000, today filed suit to recover from the bankrupt's estate his five patents and $5000 cash which he invested in the enterprise.

His petition asks for an order restraining Receiver Hans Wulff from selling the company's assets at auction tomorrow under a court order. It is not expected that action can be taken soon enough to halt the sale.

Bruckmann alleges that "Purity" Jones, through false representations, induced him to turn over five patents on laundry machines and centrifugal dryers and buy stock in the company when at the time the David Jones Co. was insolvent.

CITY SEEKS OWNERS OF LOTS IN DES PERES SEWER DISTRICT

Settlement With Them or Their Heirs Necessary Before the Work Can Proceed.

There is some money waiting for John H. Claybrook and John W. Charlton, or their heirs or legal representatives, if they will make themselves known. The city wishes them to share in the payments being made to other owners of land in the lower River des Peres district, for land to be used in the Des Peres sewer improvement.

Claybrook's name appears as owner of lot 26, city block 3291, on Primus street, near Tennessee avenue. Charlton is named in the records as owning lots 4, 5 and 6 of block 3170, on Tennessee near the river. The taxes on the two lots have not been paid for several years. The work will be delayed if the right of way is not obtained soon. W. W. Horner, chief engineer of streets and sewers, issued a request for information about the two men.

CANADA VOTES $500,000 FOR EMBASSY IN WASHINGTON

Defeats Decisively Conservative Attempt to Prevent Erection of Legation Building.

By the Associated Press.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 14.—Appropriation of $500,000 to purchase a building in Washington to house the Canadian legation, was voted by the House of Commons today.

Hugh Guthrie, Conservative leader, failed by a vote of 98 to 24 to reduce the appropriation to $25,000. He said reports indicated the United States representative to Canada would occupy office quarters and reside in a private dwelling.

Woman's Scream Routs Burglar.
 Aroused by a noise at a kitchen window at 9:30 p. m., yesterday, Mrs. Grace Randolph, 4437 Oakland avenue, peered into the room and saw a burglar half in and half out of the window which had been forced. She switched on the lights and screamed and the man jumped out the window and escaped.

BARRICADED WOMAN HOLDUP CHIEF CAUGHT

Fifty Chicago Police, With Tear Gas, Capture $7000 Jewelry Thieves She Led.

By the Associated Press.
 CHICAGO, April 14.—Fifty armed policemen were held at bay nearly two hours last night before they captured a young woman robber, a grandmother and three men, and recovered $7000 in jewelry taken in a store holdup a short time before.

Firemen finally were called to rescue the young woman from the house, which was filled with the fumes of tear gas bombs. Wearing masks, the firemen found her nearly unconscious, slumped into a basement hole to which she had staggered for aid.

At a hospital the young woman said she was Mrs. Mary Walters, 25 years old. The men arrested with her were Carl Ness, 25, and Clarence Swanson, 18, of Chicago, and Joseph Masinski, 27, of Los Angeles. Ness' mother, Mrs. Anna Ness, 50, also was arrested.

The young woman, who police think is in reality Helen Conklin, alias Helen Busch, alias Helen Santelme, led the men in the robbery, guarding the proprietor with a small automatic pistol while her companions looted the jewel trays. "If you move, I'll kill you," the proprietor quoted the woman as saying.

She covered the retreat of the robbers and then backed out of the store, but left her handbag containing her address on the counter. Thus the police arrived at the house shortly after the robbery.

Sets Dog on Policeman.
 A policeman rapped at the front door, which was opened by Mrs. Walters. When she saw the policeman she called a dog, which flew at the officer's throat. The policeman shot the animal. From an inner door behind which the woman had disappeared a revolver fire started and the patrolman retreated.

Reserves were called and 20 policemen formed a cordon about the house, from which an intermittent fire came.

Rocks were thrown through the windows, followed by tear bombs, and the men and Mrs. Ness finally staggered out. Despite her use, she attempted to wrest a shotgun from the hands of one of the reserves.

Mrs. Walters fought the fumes by finding a small opening for air in a hole in the basement. The police said the men confessed.

STILL AND LIQUOR SUPPLIES TAKEN IN POLICE RAIDS Odor of Mash Leads Officers to Third Floor Room; Three Persons Arrested.
 A small still and 15 gallons liquor were found at 2501-2 Dodder street late yesterday by Lieut. Elias Hoagland and his men, working on a tip that liquor was being sold there.

An odor of mash in the yard led the raiders to the third floor of 2503 where they found a copper still. They arrested Walter Winkelman, who was on the premises.

John Grove, bartender of a saloon at 1909 Hebert street was arrested yesterday afternoon when police raiders reported they saw him standing in a group with a bottle of whisky in one hand and a glass in the other. Search of the place revealed a quantity of home brew and a half pint of whisky.

A liquor cache consisting of 49 pints of whisky and 12 quarts of beer fell into the hands of police early today when they saw a Negro run from 1010 North Sixth street, a vacant store room. A padlock on the door had been jammed and inside the whisky cache was stacked. The Negro apparently had been preparing to steal the liquor when frightened away.

An unidentified woman found crying at Thirteenth and Palm streets at 8:15 o'clock last evening told police her husband was at the saloon of Fred Wolf, 3137 North Thirteenth street. Officers raided the place a few minutes later and arrested Wolf when they found a group of men drinking beer from steins. They seized two half barrels of beer.

DURANT BROTHER-IN-LAW GONE
 Wife Says His Relatives Are Keeping Ward Ledger From Her.
 By the Associated Press.
 NEW YORK, April 14.—Abandoning a private search of more than two years for her husband, Ward Lederer, brother-in-law of William C. Durant, automobile magnate, Mrs. Victoria Lederer has asked for police aid, declaring her husband is being kept from her by his relatives.

Lederer, who is 35 years old, left for work in Durant's Wall street office Jan. 27, 1925. Mrs. Lederer said and she has not seen him since. The Lederers were married seven years ago. She said she had learned that he was in Albuquerque, N. M., last December.

HARBOR INSPECTION DELAYED
 High Water Precludes Steamer Clearing Two Bridges on River.
 High water has caused postponement of an inspection of the St. Louis harbor by business leaders, as guests of Mayor Miller, since the smokestacks of the Erastus Wells at present stage would clear the Eads Bridge by only a foot, and would not clear Merchants' or McKinley bridges.

The trip, which was to have been made tomorrow, will be made as soon as considerations of safety permit. It was announced, and next Friday was tentatively named.

Woman Injured by Auto.
 Mrs. Agnes Voshell, 50 years old, of Warrenton, Mo., visiting relatives here at 4055 Wyoming street, suffered a fractured leg and internal injuries at 5:30 p. m. yesterday when knocked down by an automobile driven by Charles A. Roll, 4235 Washington boulevard, as she crossed in front of 926 Pine street. She was taken to City Hospital.

Snap..Dash.. Eye Appeal of Fifth Avenue Smart Shops in these new Armstrong Floors

WHAT do you sell? Merchandise across the counter? A service over a desk? . . . It makes no difference. You want the public—your customers—to walk in, to look around.

When they do, comments are made . . . opinions passed . . . and the appearance of your office or store invariably affects your sales opportunities.

And right underfoot—where your customers walk—is the place to introduce the eye-appealing beauty that makes customers want to come in . . . shop around . . . and buy.

Snap . . . Dash . . . Eye Appeal. You'll get all three in the new Armstrong Floors. Colorful. Correctly designed. They transform a place of business overnight.

Quickly installed? Yes. Permanent, too. And the first cost—a low one—is the last cost to you. Why? There's no refinishing. A waxing and polishing, a dry-dusting, is all the cleaning care necessary.

And—as easy to buy as a new hat. Just drop in or telephone to a good department, furniture, or linoleum store. Ask for samples and estimates.

Below, you see two of the many new Armstrong Floor designs for business interiors. All are beautiful floors—and permanent floors when cemented in place over builders' deadening felt.

Auction of "Dead" Parcel Post Packages Discloses Misdirected Gifts That Never Arrived.

The breach would have been healed, the growing coolness dispelled, if the sender who became offended at receiving not a word of thanks for his gift and the intended receiver who, in the absence of the gift, decided the sender was just a "tightwad," could have stood together at the auction of "dead" parcel post packages yesterday. It was held in the Parcel Post Annex, Seventeenth and Pine streets.

If the bride who was to have received that 29-piece set of silverware, could have seen it then as the crowd haggled for it amid the staccato patter of the auctioneer, she would have no doubt forgiven her uncle in Kansas who never did write a good hand. And the uncle, if he could have seen it, might have revised his opinion of the younger generation as ill-mannered jackanapes who couldn't even thank a man. And if he was indignant when it was "knocked down" to the highest bidder at only $12 he would have only himself and his illegible hand writing to blame.

Even the desperate lady with the scant red hair, who wrote to a hair concern, asking it to ship a "transformation" of auburn hue, would have been softened when she saw the auctioneer lift up the wig she never got and sell it for $2. And the concern that sent it C. O. D. might revise its original harsh estimate of the red-haired lady.

But unfortunately neither the senders nor intended receivers were present at yesterday's auction. Before the auctioneer was a varied assemblage in which were policemen, motormen, red caps from Union Station and numerous pawn-brokers and their wives. A baby sat on its mother's lap chewing a fountain pen. The pawn-brokers were the most insistent bidders, with the result that the lovely dress sent by Aunt Lily to Annie will sway in the breeze beneath three golden balls, and Annie will never wear it unless she pays $7.50.

More than 330 articles, ranging from "one ukelin" (a stringed musical instrument) to golf balls, cigars, honey and spare automobile parts, were offered for auction. Among the articles sold and the prices bid were the following: 29 golf balls, $3.75; one watch, out of order, $2; 12 pocket knives, $3.75; that 29-piece set of silverware, $12; two pairs of field glasses, $3.50; 12 rosaries and religious medals, $2.75; a fancy fan from Havana, $1; 36 women's handkerchiefs, $3; one combination anvil and vise, $2; 150 cigars, some damaged, $7.25; 50 boxes of face powder, "right in from Paris," $2.75; Burton's Universal Encyclopedia, $2; one ukelin, $2.25; and 36 women's novelty hats, $2.25.

WELFARE LEAGUE THANKS

LEGISLATORS FOR MEASURES

Resolutions Addressed to St. Louis Members Adopted at Luncheon Meeting.

Resolutions thanking St. Louis members of the recent Legislature and a few other legislators for rural communities for their support in passage of two measures sponsored by the Missouri Welfare League were adopted at a luncheon meeting of the league yesterday at the Annex Hotel. A vote of thanks for her work at Jefferson City in support of the bills was given Miss Carol Bates, executive secretary of the league.

One of the bills provides for establishment of an intermediate reformatory to separate adult criminals from juvenile delinquents at Booneville Reformatory, and the other provides parole officers for the St. Louis "Court of Criminal Correction. A $40,000 appropriation for the intermediate reformatory was passed but has not been approved by Gov. Baker.

Four members of the Legislature from St. Louis attended the meeting and made short speeches.

THOMAS SYMINGTON REWEDS

Manufacturer Marries Divorced Wife of H. Grainger Gaither.

By the Associated Press. BALTIMORE, Md., April 14.—Thomas H. Symington, wealthy manufacturer and sportsman, whose suit for divorce from Ida May Symington, attracted attention last year, has married Mrs. Edith Riley Gaither, divorced wife of H. Grainger Gaither. The ceremony was performed at Elkton City, Md., by a Presbyterian minister.

Yesterday's wedding was Mr. Symington's third. His first wife was Miss Clara Randolph of Baltimore. One month after his divorce from her in 1919 he married Ida May Symington. The Gaithers were divorced three years ago.

Probationary Patrolman Injured. Pursuing a crowd of Negro boys for taking bottles of soda from a truck, Probationary Patrolman Floyd Smith and "Dennis" Bradley ran through an alley near Loftingwell and Franklin avenues. Smith, in the lead, stumbled over a can and fell. Bradley, following close behind, fell over Smith and was injured. At City Hospital Bradley was said to have suffered a fractured shoulder and cuts on the face. He was taken to his home, 3512 Indiana avenue. The boys escaped.

PIANOS-ORGANS-HARPS-RADIO-MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
1006 OLIVE ST.
EAST ST. LOUIS STORE, 309 COLLINSVILLE

RADIO DROWNED OUT PIANO TRADE, HE SAYS

J. L. Houras, Bankrupt, Tells Referee Static Extended Also to His Victrolas.

Radio was all static to the Houras Piano Co., 2618 Cherokee street, according to J. L. Houras, who testified before Referee in Bankruptcy Coles yesterday in the failure of his concern, with $11,600 in debts and about $4000 worth of free assets.

Houras said he incorporated the concern in 1923 with a capital of $10,000, consisting of the assets of a company he previously had operated as an individual. The capital stock was later increased to $25,000 of common stock and a similar sum in preferred stock. Houras said. The concern dealt in pianos and victrolas and made some money. Then came the radio and the other waves put the Houras company into a financial state of coma, according to Houras.

"We lost $8000 in five months selling pianos below cost in an effort to compete with the radio," Houras told the Referee. "We were forced to accept notes in most of the transactions and because we needed money, we sold the notes to finance companies at a 30 per cent discount. We couldn't pay for pianos we had ordered and finally induced a manufacturer to let us have some on consignment."

In a desperate effort to save the company Houras reclaimed he added radios to his stock in trade, but the radio was unable to repair the damage it is alleged to have caused and Houras placed the company in voluntary bankruptcy last month.

Houras was questioned at length concerning a financial statement issued by the concern last July. He said the statement coincided with the books, but said the books failed to reflect the true condition of the company, as later events proved. The hearing will be resumed at a later date.

ARMOUR GRAIN CO. IN LIQUIDATION FOR TWO YEARS

Announcement Made by Two Members of Family, Who Guaranteed Acceptances of Co-operative.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 14.—The Armour Grain Co., which has been ordered suspended from privileges on the Board of Trade, is in process of liquidation.
This was announced last night
by Phillips D. Armour and Lester Armour, nephews of J. Ogden Armour, in statement that explained that the concern had been liquidating both its property and its grain since July, 1925.

Progress, however, had been hampered, it was stated, by the fact that the Armour company also had been engaged in liquidating the Grain Marketing Co., the defunct co-operative merger of Armour and other grain concerns.
The Armour Grain Co. was suspended, effective Saturday, by directors of the Board of Trade after they had heard a preliminary report from a special committee which declared testimony "clearly showed wrongful acts" by persons not members of the board.

The board is continuing its inquiry into the operations of the Armour concern. Two months will be required, it was indicated, to hear testimony upon which any action looking to the suspension of individual members of the Armour company from the Board of Trade might be taken.

Armour Statement.
The statement issued by Philip
D. Armour and Lester Armour said:

"Our connection with the Armour Grain Co. up to July, 1925, was that of small inactive stockholders. In July, 1925, desiring to save a situation which might easily have done great harm to the grain industry as a whole, the board of trade, and Chicago as a trading center, we voluntarily guaranteed the entire outstanding amount of acceptances of the grain marketing company. These have since been fully paid off without loss to any one concerned.

About that time we, in connection with other stockholders of the Armour Grain Co., definitely decided that as soon as possible the Armour Grain Co. would liquidate, and all stockholders of the company would cease to have any interest in any grain business.

"Since that time it has been the policy of the Armour Grain Co. to liquidate its holdings of both property and grain as fast as was practical.

Liquidating Marketing Company.
"More rapid progress in the liquidation of the company would have been accomplished before this, if it had not been for the fact that by mutual arrangement between those interested in the grain marketing company, the Armour Grain Co. has been engaged in liquidating the grain marketing company. It seems right in view of the publicity given not only to the Armour Grain Co., but to members of the Armour family who own stocks in that company, formally to announce the policy decided on at that time and to publicly state that neither we nor any other member of the family have taken any active part in the operation or management of that company.

"We wish to assure the customers of the Armour Grain Co. that their interests will be protected."

Federal Department Suggestion.
Suggestion for changes in the grain trade have been sent to President John Bunnell of the Board of Trade by L. A. Fitz, supervisor for the grain futures administration of the Federal Department of Agriculture. A copy of the communication also went to Benjamin F. Goldstein, attorney for the Illinois Legislative Committee which is investigating grain trading practices.

"There has been manifest more or less lack of confidence on the part of grain men, millers, bankers and speculators," said the Fitz letter. "In the character and quality of grain represented by and delivered by Chicago public warehouse receipts."

"This is due," Fitz wrote, "to a large number of factors, among which may be enumerated the following:

"1. An obsolete and antiquated warehouse law which does not meet present day needs.

"2. Lack of proper supervision and check-up on the quality and condition of grain in public store.

"3. The presence in public elevators of low grades or noncontract grades.

"4. Mixing in public elevators or upon loading out.

Advantage of Elevator Operators.
"5. Deterioration during storage.

"6. Posting of corn sometimes very soon or immediately after transfer of warehouse receipts upon delivery.

"7. The owner placed at unfair advantage when his grain is posted.

"8. Previous lack of Federal supervision and appeal on grain delivered upon contracts.

"9. Recent testimony in Armour cases relative to elevator and public warehouse practices.

"10. Undue advantage held by elevator operators who are also competitors in the cash and future markets.

"11. Combination or dual-purpose elevators, that is, private and public under the same roof.

"It seems too bad that we should allow conditions to continue whereby a comparatively small amount of corn being posted (perhaps a total of 400,000 bushels last year) should have a very detrimental effect upon the total visible supply which amounted to something like 17,500,000 bushels at the close of last summer. Anything that we can reasonably do to minimize such bad effects should be constructive support for the market.

"Of course, if some practical plan can be worked out whereby the elevator interests can guarantee delivery of grain put in store, this would be fine and obviate the necessity of posting except in cases of emergency.
"I feel quite sure that the trade as a whole is very much interested

ON TRIAL AS SLAYER, WOMAN AIDS HIS ALIBI

Robert Wehrle, Charged With Killing Venice (Ill.) Officer, Swears He Was in St. Louis.

Robert Wehrle, 23-year-old World War veteran, identified yesterday in his trial before Circuit Judge Gillham at Edwardsville as the slayer of Patrolman George Preise, in a Venice filling station holdup, Oct. 18, 1935. Today, declared on the witness stand that he was in his room in St. Louis when the murder was committed.

Wehrle, who worked as a mechanic for a Clayton Auto concern prior to his arrest, testified that the night before the murder, he went to a motion picture show with Miss Dorothy Busameyer, who roomed at 3111 Lindell boulevard, where he also lived. He said they spent some time after 11 o'clock and that he passed the night there. The young woman gave similar testimony.

Preise was killed when he approached as two men were holding up Arthur White, a filling station proprietor. One of them opened fire at Preise, in civilian clothes, got within range, and was fatally wounded.

White, who was slightly wounded, testified yesterday that he was positive Wehrle fired the shot that killed the policeman. Wehrle, the only man charged with the murder, was arrested a week later in St. Louis on a tip given to the police by a woman that he was involved in the holdup and killing.

TWO ST. LOUIS ESTATES PAY INHERITANCE TAX TO STATE

Widow of Sam Lazarus Sends Check for $12,421. Heirs of John B. Louderman, $27,373.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14.—A check for $12,421.85, covering the State inheritance tax on the estate of the late Sam Lazarus of St. Louis, was sent to State Treasurer C. E. Stephens today by Mrs. Lillie N. Lazarus, executrix of the estate. Lazarus died March 5, 1936.

The inheritance tax report placed the net value of the Lazarus estate at $1,047,173, after deduction of $303,479 for debts and obligations, from the appraisal of $1,350,652. The State inheritance tax was comparatively small, because of the large exemptions on the widow's share and other bequests in the will.

Another check for $27,373.25 was received today for State inheritance taxes on the estate of Henry B. Louderman of St. Louis, who died Dec. 4 last. The net value of the estate was placed at $1,168,320 on the inheritance tax report. The executors are Henry B. Louderman, Jr., William M. Louderman, and John H. Louderman, sons of Henry B. Louderman.

BOY, 15, PLEADS GUILTY OF OF STEP-MOTHER'S MURDER

Court Defers Sentence of Earl Jackson Pending Outcome of Father's Trial.

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., April 14.—Earl Jackson, 15 years old, entered a plea of guilty to charges of murdering his stepmother, Mrs. Mary Jackson, on Oct. 7 last, when taken before Judge Ferguson in Circuit Court here this morning.

Judge Ferguson took his case under advisement and will give his sentence following the trial of his father, Marion Jackson, 45 years old, charged jointly with the murder. Selection of a jury to try Marion Jackson was started.

Earl said he killed his stepmother because she asked him to. He said "somebody else" dug the grave, but he has refused to give their names. Marion Jackson maintains innocence of any connection with the crime. He says he thought his wife was visiting relatives in Arkansas.

STARTS CHICAGO SCHOOL ROW

Mayor Thompson Considering Plea for Federal Disloyalty Inquiry.

CHICAGO, April 14.—Mayor Thompson yesterday took formal possession of his office in City Hall and shortly afterwards was in a verbal battle with the Chicago Board of Education. The board elected Walter J. Rutter, banker, as its president to fill the term of the late E. B. Elliott.

Mayor Thompson promised during his campaign that he would remove William McAndrew as superintendent of schools, accusing him of being "pro-British." Rutter said he hoped the board would reach an agreement by which McAndrew would be retained. Thompson announced he was considering asking the Federal Government to investigate charges of disloyalty in the public school system.

Thompson appointed Rufus A. H. Carey of the African Methodist Church a member of the Civil Service Commission.

CHIEF OF POLICE HELD UP

WINDSOR, Ont., April 14.—The Chief of Police of Sandwich East, near here, was held up by five men who took his revolver and $150 and then handcuffed him to a companion from whom they took $150.

Henry Cechoy, the Police Chief, and Joseph Brouil, his companion, organized a posse and two hours later four of the robbers were in custody. The fifth escaped Deputy Sheriff. They recovered $100 of the money.

SWITCHMAN GETS $30,000, RECORD VERDICT FOR INJURIES

Jury Gives Heaviest Damages in Missouri's Legal History to Charles P. Fitzgerald.

A verdict for $30,000 was returned by a jury in Circuit Judge Mix's court yesterday in a suit against the St. Louis Merchants' Bridge Terminal Railway Co. by Charles P. Fitzgerald, 47 years old, of 1149 Eads avenue, who sued for $125,000 for injuries suffered Dec. 1, 1935, when run over by a freight car in the Bremen avenue yards where he was a switchman. His left arm was cut off in the accident and he declared his eyesight and nervous system were permanently affected, alleging negligence on the part of the crew, which shunted the car on the track where he was working. The railroad's attorneys contended he assumed the element of risk when he went to work.

Fitzgerald's attorney Edward W. Porcari, declared it was the largest personal injury damage judgment ever allowed in Missouri.

Another Grateful User Praises Popular Medicine Above All Others for Beneficial Results.

"I do not see how anyone can afford to go on suffering with constipation and stomach disorders when the very remedy to overcome such trouble is within their reach. The Herb Extract medicine (formerly known as Herb Juice) is the most wonderful medicine I have ever found for such ailments and I want to tell what it did for me."

said Mrs. C. W. Jennings, 2635 Laclade Station, Maplewood, Mo.

MRS. C. W. JENNINGS

The many statements from other people who had used your medicine, prompted me to use it and it proved to be just as advertised in the papers and recommended by those who have tried it out. In a recent statement to the representative of the Herb Extract remedy (formerly called Herb Juice) at Walgreen's drug store, Mrs. Jennings told how this medicine had greatly improved her health, and her husband's also. "I had suffered for several years with stomach disorders, inactive liver, excessive kidney action, headaches, all of which was caused from my constipated condition. Your Herb Extract medicine is the only remedy that has ever given me the long sought relief from my symptoms and ailments, and for this reason I feel that it is my duty to advise it above all other medicines for the

WIFE ALLEGES DENTIST FLIRTED ON HONEYMOON

Former Nelle Farthing Takes Stand Against Dr. John Paul Jones.

The story of her marriage with Dr. John Paul Jones, elderly dentist of East St. Louis, and discord that developed afterward, was given on the witness stand in East St. Louis City Court yesterday by Mrs. Nelle Farthing Jones, former high school teacher, who is suing for separate maintenance. Mrs. Jones, 45 years old, had taught in the East St. Louis High School for 14 years before she married Dr. Jones in 1925. At the time of her marriage she was president of the East St. Louis Business and Professional Women's Club.

She had known Dr. Jones for several years, and esteemed him as a friend, Mrs. Jones said. In February, 1925, their friendship turned to love. They were married after a courtship of seven months, in which their companionship, Mrs. Jones said, "was the most beautiful thing in my whole life."

However, the honeymoon at Gull Lake, Mich., proved a startling contrast, she continued. She accused her husband of drinking heavily, and of devoted attentions to a young woman, formerly his secretary. When the young woman, their guest, had called, Mrs. Jones said, her husband showed anger and jealousy and on one occasion had seized a pistol and threatened a musician who had been attentive to the young woman.

About a month and a half after the marriage, Mrs. Jones filed the first suit for separate maintenance, after her husband told her, she said, that he had merely married her to fulfill a promise and would shoot himself if she insisted on living with him. They were reconciled, but the subsequent history of their marriage showed recurrent quarrels and recriminations.

Dr. Jones went to a hospital in November, 1926, suffering from nervous breakdown, thence to Florida. When he returned Mrs. Jones had him arrested for abandonment. She has brought against him, in all, five separate legal actions.

Dr. Jones has filed a cross-bill denying all the allegations of his wife and accusing her of nagging, of general cruelty toward him, and of calling him names.

The hearing was continued today in the East St. Louis City Court.

Detroit to Wind Up Stay Tomorrow When Teams Will Try to Start—Friel Claims Record.

By Herman Wecke.

With the Browns' opening of the American League season against the Detroit Tigers postponed for the third successive day, when rain again washed out the scheduled game for this afternoon, Bill Friel, business manager of the St. Louis club, became reminiscent.

Friel started discussing the number of times opening games had been called off in succession.

"I don't remember of any previous season," said Friel, "in which a major league opening game was called off by rain three times in a row. One thing certain, it did not happen in St. Louis. But—" and then Bill started in full fashion.

It May Be Record.

"Away back there, in the days when I managed the Columbus club of the American Association and Bob Quinn was business manager of the club, we had our opening called off four straight days by rain and cold weather.

"And there was the season of 1925, when the Reds came here for a series of four games with the Cardinals. Not one of the quartet was decided, cold weather being responsible for a majority of the postponements. But that was not for the opening."

So Bill is ready to claim a new world's record for the St. Louis Americans.

The Detroit club is here again tomorrow. That will be its final scheduled battle on the first stand in St. Louis. Efforts will be made to start. The managers are standing pat on the pitchers announced for the first day—Tom Zachary for the Browns and Earl Whitehill for the Tigers.

Chance in Browns Lineup. Three days of idleness in a row have made a change in Dan Howley's starting plans. He now intends to use Oscar Melillo at second base, with Frank O'Rourke shifting to third and Otis Miller doing bench duty.

Otherwise everything is "jake." The White Sox, with their new manager, Ray Schalk, are scheduled to visit this city for four contests, starting Saturday, after which Howley and his athletes will hike to other parts to visit each of the three other Western cities.

Yesterday, an attempt was made to start. The band was on hand and everything else and the officials waited until, after 2 o'clock, to call off hostilities. But the skies refused to dry and so the noble athletes were forced into idleness. But the bit of program practice was the first time St. Louis athletes were able to indulge in since the spring series game with the Cardinals, Sunday.

IF TWINS RUN MILE EACH, WILL THE BEARS WIN THE TWO MILE?

Washington U. track men, who have been wearing long faces since the Franklin Field flood forced them to an indoor schedule, suddenly brightened yesterday afternoon after a "confidential" conversation between Dr. Bill Edmunds, coach, and one of the track men. Among Dr. Edmunds' runners are twin brothers, Eugene and Milton Munsell, both candidates for the mile run. Taken separately, they offer no great interest, but together they have possibilities. "These fellows look so much alike I can't tell 'em apart," said Edmunds. "Let's run them each a mile and win the two-mile race. Nobody will be able to tell the difference," suggested a deep thinker.

Voight Proves "Find" of Golf Play in South

GEORGE VOIGHT.

Newcomer Takes Place Alongside Jones, Cruickshank and Sweetser in Ability.

Activities along the Southern golfing front have drawn definitely to a close for the winter season, and golf fans are now taking stock of the situation, mentally lining up the "shoop from the goots," in an effort to find "Who's Who" in the Southern season's closing play.

Four names are outstanding, by virtue of their achievements. This quartet includes three men who already are numbered "among the chosen" in golfing ability. The fourth is a newcomer.

Bobby Jones, Bobby Cruickshank, Jess Sweetser and George Voight is the way the select list reads. And of the four, Voight is perhaps the most interesting, on account of his name being the latest to be elevated to its present high position.

Hitherto an unknown amateur, Voight finished tenth in the Southern open, put up an excellent game in the North and South, and by way of added flourish, he won the North-South amateur at Pinehurst in mastery fashion.

He took the qualifying round with 67—68—125, one of the best records of all time. To show that he was not above his ability, Voight stepped through the field, winning the final from young Gene Homans, 3 and 2—Saturday.

On this record, golf fans have made no mistake in grouping the newcomer's name with such luminaries as Jones, Cruickshank and Sweetser, and he is now figured as one of the men to beat in any tournament he chooses to enter.

VOIGHT LEADS FIELD IN DIXIE GOLF PLAY

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 14.—George Voight of Washington, who last week won the annual North and South golf tournament at Pinehurst, N. C., today led the field in the qualifying round of the Mason and Dixon championship, turning in a card of 73, three over par for the Green.

Brier Golf Club course. First round matches are to be played today.

MEXICAN INDIANS TO RUN 45 MILES AT KANSAS RELAYS

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 14.—Women runners of the Tarahumara Indian tribe in Mexico will accompany the men runners of their tribe to Lawrence for the University of Kansas relays April 23.

The university athletic department received a telegram from Carlos Forata, director of Education at Chihuahua City, Mexico, which announced the women runners had accepted the university's invitation.

The women will run from Topeka, Kan., to Lawrence, a distance of about 30 miles, and the men from Kansas City, Mo., to Lawrence, a distance of 45 miles.

TUNNEY MAY DEFEND TITLE IN CHICAGO

Manager Gibson Starts Negotiations, Asserting New York Ruling Makes Gene Free Agent.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 14.—With New York bridges burned behind him, Billy Gibson, manager of Gene Tunney, has laid the foundations for some new bridges here.

Gibson, conferring with Promoter Jim Mullen declared that the heavyweight champion to be a free agent by action of the New York Boxing Commission in voiding all Tunney contracts with New York promoters, including Tex Rickard. As a result, Gibson said, Tunney was ready to sign to make his next ring appearance in Chicago.

Can Get the Backing.

All that is necessary, according to Gibson, is ability on the part of a Chicago promoter to produce the important money which a world's champion requires. This can be done, Mullen told him.

As an arena for the scrap, Mullen believes Soldiers' Field can be obtained. It will accommodate 110,000 spectators. If this arena could be obtained, either of the major league ball parks would seat enough fans to make the venture a paying one, Mullen said.

Gibson told the promoter to go ahead and dicker for an opponent for Tunney. He said he would take up the proposal with the champion at once, with the possibility that the late summer or early fall might see a heavyweight title bout here.

Proposed Trip Virtually Off.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 14.—Gene Tunney may not appear before the crowned heads and common folks in Europe after all.

Billy Gibson, manager of the world's heavyweight champion, said yesterday that Tunney's proposed trip virtually was off, but that British promoters had until today to make the necessary deposits in a New York bank. Gibson said he did not believe the money would be deposited.

"We conducted our negotiations through a British Lord," Gibson explained. "His lordship was supposed to pay us $25,000 two weeks ago. Then action was granted, at the request of his lordship."

Will Appear in Cleveland.

"Unless the money is placed on top of the barrel, as the boys say, Tunney will not get on the boat. And it doesn't look as if the dough was coming up."

Tunney will end five and a half months of theatrical work with an exhibition in Cleveland next Tuesday night. Then he intends to spend several weeks resting at Speculator, N. Y., the camp he first selected to prepare for his championship battle with Jack Dempsey.

Bear Net Team Plays Sooners

Oklahoma Yesterday Gained Victory Over Kansas Aggie Squad.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NORMAN, Okla., April 14.—After defeating the two-man team of the Kansas Aggies in three matches late Wednesday, the Sooners were preparing to clash with the strong team from the Washington University here today.

In yesterday's matches, Royer defeated Capt. Harold Lewis, 6-3, 6-1; Capt. Dick Mason defeated Skradski 6-2, 6-0, and Dodge and Landon paired to win from Lewis and Skradski, 6-2, 11-9.

The feature match today was expected to be the singles tilt between Fred Royer and Charles Sigoloff. Last spring Sigoloff defeated Royer, but Royer reversed the count on him a week later to win the Missouri Valley conference championship at Lincoln.

Sherdel, Ring or Bell to Face Cubs in Third Battle of Series

By J. Roy Stockton.

CHICAGO, April 14.—There will have to be more latitude in picking the pitchers in advance hereafter, in the next game it probably will be Sherdel, Ring or Herman Bell. Guy Bush is due for the Cubs.

putting high to Earl Webb certainly did the business. He popped up twice and struck out once.

The two hits off Haines were clean. Heathcote lined down the right field line in the first inning and it took a perfect throw.

Southworth to prevent Cliff from turning it into a double. Frisch took Bull's row, dived at Heathcote and the runner was out.

Cooney's single in the sixth inning was a Texas leaguer that dropped in front of Douthitt.

Haines gave one base on balls, walking Adams in the ninth after he had struck out Pinch Hitters Tolson and Scott.

The game attracted 7300 cash customers despite the chilling wind. The sun was shining, but it didn't mean anything.

Frisch Plays Great Game.

Frisch played a great game in the field and his double was timely. He has made two hits in nine times at bat thus far, but his fielding has been sensational.

The first Cardinal batter reached base in six out of nine innings, but the champions scored in only two innings. In the eighth Harry singled, O'Farrell singled, Kaufmann relieved Blake and Thevenow singled, scoring Haines.

The two games here have attracted nearly 50,000 fans. The opening day game was a few under 42,000.

Playing errorless ball, the Cardinals looked brilliant in the field.

Haines' Work Features Victory; Hurler Refuses To Retire When Injured

Big Jess Comes Through With Two-Hit Shutout and Manager O'Farrell Admits He Made World Champions a Better Ball Club—Only 29 Batters Face Right-Hander in Nine Rounds.

By J. Roy Stockton

of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff

CHICAGO, April 14.—Forced into idleness by cold weather which caused postponement of this afternoon's game with the Cubs here, the world champions found time to sing the praises of Jess Haines, winning hurler in the second battle of the series.

Haines did more than pitch a two-hit game against the Cubs at Wrigley Field yesterday afternoon. He pitched a masterful contest. He mowed the fighting Bruins down so well that only 29 batters faced him, but two more than the usual three an inning did he gave the Cubs a beating, 5 to 0.

But Jess Haines did more than that. Haines was a great pitcher last year. He had developed a knuckle ball and learned to control it, and in the heat of the pennant race, when Haines had lost his cunning and other teams in the league were challenging the Cardinals in their pennant battle, Haines was the mainstay. He was unbeatable as long as he had that knuckle ball working and as long as the fresh on the fingers of his right hand stood up under the wear and tear of the knuckler.

But Haines had a reputation of being an in and out. They said he always followed a good year with a bad year, and when he developed a sore arm in training camp the statement about his being due for a bad season was remembered. But Haines bent to the job of preparing for the new race.

Pained Him to Throw.

It pained him to throw with that right arm. There was a twinge in the shoulder each time he threw, and as he threw the knuckle ball the skin on the fingers of his right hand, where he gripped the ball, became raw. But Haines kept on working. He kept throwing and throwing, and in the evening would visit Bill McKeechie and Bill would rub that shoulder muscle and encourage Jess. The pain wore away, but Haines was having trouble with his control. Pitch though he did every time he had a chance, he had trouble finding the plate, and in the spring series game that he pitched against the Browns he was still wild. He gave six bases on balls and it seemed that perhaps there was something in that every-other-year stuff.

Bill Sherdel was scheduled to pitch against the Cubs in the second game of the series. Haines was mentioned as a possible starter, because he is recognized as an ace of the staff, but O'Farrell planned to use Sherdel. Sherdel knew it and Haines knew it.

Only 15 Bruin Batters Faced Jess In First Five Innings of Contest

Pitcher Blake fumbled. Douthitt hit into a double play, starting with a force at the plate. Billy Southworth pushed a single to left and Thevenow raced over the plate. But Haines, eagerly leaning toward home, turned an ankle as he ended third. Down he went, in such pain that he fell on the turf six feet from the bag. Bill McKeechie pleaded with him and Jess crawled back to the bag, but he was in bad shape, it appeared. Players rushed from the dugout. They started to carry Jess off the field. He protested and tried to walk, but it was too much. He tried to walk with an arm resting on a comrade on either side. But he could not even make it that way and finally he was picked up bodily and carried to the dugout.

Looked Like Bad Break.

One run was over the plate, but no pitcher was warmed up and it appeared to be the break of the game. In the dugout Haines threw aside his helpers.

"I'm going through with this," he declared and he hobbled back and forth to show that he was fit. He insisted so firmly that no attention was paid to the clamoring fans or the umpires, who were taking turns rushing to the dugout and demanding that a substitute runner be sent in for the injured Haines, so the game could be finished and the freeing athletes and spectators sent home. Finally Haines hobbled out of the dugout and limped back to third base, its was going to finish that game.

Frankie Frisch had gone lithe in three chances at the plate. He had failed to get the ball out of the infield, but if a pitcher had to be carried off the field could hobble back to the bag and carry on.

OTTAWA DEFEATS BOSTON FOR WORLD'S HOCKEY TITLE, 3-1

TEAMS HAD TIED TWICE IN SERIES

Referee Has Rough Voyage and Is Forced Into Fight With Losers' Owner After Final Contest.

By the Associated Press.

OTTAWA, April 14.—Won in a bitter four-game battle with a strong Boston team, the professional hockey championship of the world remains in Canada for another year.

The Stanley cup, trophy emblem of the title, goes to the Senators of Ottawa who turned in a 3 to 1 victory in the fourth and deciding game of their world series with the Boston Bruins, here last night. Another Canadian team, the Montreal Maroons, won the trophy in 1926.

As a more material reward, the Ottawa players receive about $1000 each while the Bruins get $500 as consolation for a broken season and bruised skins. Two games were tied at 0-0 and 1-1. Ottawa's first victory was 3 to 1 as its last.

The rough and rapid pace of the deciding game made hard sledding for Referee Jerry Laffan, of Toronto, who meted out four major penalties for roughness and back talk.

Referee Is Assaulted. A free-for-all fracas with Laffan as its center took place on the way to the dressing room after the manager and owner of the Bruins had accused him. He was not hurt.

Laffan placed the matter in the hands of President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League, who had not left the building, but no decision as to future action was announced.

During the game, Laffan said, he was the target of verbal comment from the Boston bench. He gave Herberts of the Bruins a major penalty for talking back to him while play was going on.

Coutu Named as 'Main Culprit' in Melé.

By the Associated Press. OTTAWA, Ontario, April 14.—Charges that Boston's hockey players precipitated an attack on Referee Jerry Laffan after last night's deciding triumph by the Ottawa Senators over the Bruins in the Stanley Cup series have been lodged with the National Hockey League president, Frank Calder, the Ottawa Journal declared today.

The Journal asserted that the close of the series was marked by "one of the most disgraceful scenes that has ever marred professional hockey."

The referee's report of the fracas, according to the Journal, names Billy Coutu, spare defense player of the Boston team, as "the main culprit."

Describing the affair, the Journal continued: "Coutu jumped on La Flamme and knocked him down, and, according to reports, Manager Art Ross and even Charlie Adams, Boston owner, were involved in the tussle.

"The riot occurred near the officials' room. La Flamme emerged with a painfully swollen face."

That is at the rate of $16,250 per word unless some of the mathematical sharks who are always checking us up prove that we are wrong.

The outlook may have been good from where the Judge sat, but if he had been down in this neck of the woods about Tuesday noon it wouldn't have been so good. He couldn't have seen his hand before his face.

Bucky Harris' return to the lineup was indefinitely postponed because he tried to see if he could wiggle his broken finger. He couldn't and the only kick he got out of it was satisfying his curiosity.

The reason it didn't rain in any of the other towns on opening day was because we got it all here. There wasn't enough rain to go around.

While St. Louis is known as a wet city we could do nicely with less rain. Too much is sufficient.

No Racing on Major Tracks For Two Days

Havre de Grace and Beulah Park Open Saturday—The Satrap at Maryland.

For the next two days racing followers will be without the sport on any of the major tracks. Bowie closed an 11-day meeting yesterday, and the next Maryland track, Havre de Grace, does not start until Saturday, when the Hartford Handicap of $10,000 is to be decided. On the same day Beulah Park, in Ohio, will start a meeting, although the Ohio Senate passed a bill prohibiting pari-mutuels and all "contributions to purses, voluntary or otherwise," by the public.

Spring racing in Kentucky does not start until April 23, when the Lexington meeting will get under way.

Closing day at Bowie saw the equaling of the track record for the half mile by the 2-year-old filly Lenny, in gaining victory in the Kindergarten Stakes. The E. K. Byson filly negotiated the four furlongs in :47.4-5, tying the mark established by Singlefoot in 1924.

The Satrap at Havre. Three Kentucky Derby eligibles arrived at the Havre de Grace track yesterday and will be sent through training workouts. The horses were The Satrap, William Dupont's $100,000 English bred colt; Rip Rap and Kentucky II. Trainer Max Hirsch accompanied the trio.

It is expected that The Satrap will be started in several of the early spring stakes on the Maryland courses.

When the Hartford Handicap is decided Saturday, one of the starters probably will be the Audley Farm's great mare, Princess Doreen. Kay Spence has her in training and following the running of the race intends to ship her back to Kentucky for the spring and summer campaign. Princess Doreen is the leading money-winning mare in the country.

To Race at Fairmount. Alderman J. J. Coughlin of Chicago will race his stable of 56 horses in three divisions this year. One division will be campaigned on Kentucky tracks and the other will race at Aurora, Fairmount Park and other Illinois tracks. A string of racers will be left at Douglas Park until June under the care of Trainer R. R. Boyle. The division that will race at Fairmount will be in the hands of Trainer Jake Holman.

Joe Celda, a native of New Orleans and an apprentice jockey of much promise, will ride for John Randolph at Churchill Downs during the spring meeting there. The horses in the Randolph string are: York, Capt. Applejack, Lucky Mistake, Greyhound, Miles Prior and Black Cyclone.

SPALLA'S GO WITH CAMPELO POSTPONED

By the Associated Press. BUENOS AIRES, April 14.—The scheduled bout between Erminio Spalla, Italian heavyweight and former European champion, and Victorio Campeolo, Argentine champion, was postponed last night until Saturday because the ring, in common with a large part of the city, was without lights. Fire in one of the largest electric power plants in the city paralyzed trolley car traffic and a large section of the lighting service of the city. It is the third time that the bout has been postponed, the other postponements having been caused by inclement weather. The ring is out of order.

Hudkins' Purse Withheld.

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—The purse of approximately $10,000 won by Ace Hudkins, Nebraska boxer, in his victorious bout here Tuesday night with the veteran Law Tandler, was withheld from him yesterday on a lien filed by the Government for alleged delinquent income taxes.

MACKLIN TIED FOR LEAD IN NATIONAL 3-CUSHION EVENT

HAS WON 3 GAMES; FACES LEWIS TODAY

Robert Lord and Dr. Harris of Chicago Also Are Undeclared — New Association Off to Good Start.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. CHICAGO, Ill., April 14.—Dr. L. P. Macklin, representing the Missouri A. A. of St. Louis, will meet his fourth opponent in the national three cushion billiard tournament, the first conducted under the auspices of the new American Amateur Billiard Association, today at 5 p. m. when he engages Jimmy Lewis of New York City.

Dr. Macklin won his three starts and is in the class with Bob Lord of Chicago and Dr. A. J. Harris of the C. A. A. of Chicago, who likewise are undefeated, Lord winning four and Dr. Harris three matches.

A "Rebel" Organization. The tournament is the first to have anything like national representation, and is an indication that the association has a bright future. In fact, the way the wind blows now, the old organization, the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players, is doomed to the bone yard. It seems the association governing the present event was formed primarily as a Middle West proposition, but after being refused recognition in the National Amateur Association, despite the fact it agreed to abide by the latter's rules, stepped out in opposition to the parent body, which, incidentally, is almost entirely an Eastern and one-man proposition.

With Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri represented in the new outfit, it became ambitious, stimulated to no little extent by the alleged "high hat" attitude of the original body, and the results of these so-called "rebels" have been phenomenal. In fact, the revolution promises to be of short duration, with a complete victory for the new group, for the players in both three-cushion and ballroom divisions are deserting the old order for the new.

For instance, in the ballroom division, Percy Collins of Chicago, Jim Lewis and Herb Hammer of Brooklyn have definitely decided to cast their lot with the new association and it is understood unofficially that Edgy Appleby and John Clinton Jr., the latter of Pittsburgh and the present 18.2 national title holder, will fall in line.

No Commercial Domination. This coupled with the majority of the leading three-cushion players, practically depleted the old organization of its strength. One point in particular is brought out by the officials of the new association, and it is that no commercial enterprise will be permitted to have a hand in the affairs of the American Amateur Association. It's only a youngster at this time, but with any kind of nursing at all, it can't fail to develop into an aggressive and robust outfit.

Today's matches: 1 p. m., Wainwright vs. Tate; 1 p. m., Fleming vs. Harris; 5 p. m., Macklin vs. Lewis; 5 p. m., Harris vs. Wainwright.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Might Be Good.

PLANS to have the winner of a Paulino-Delany fight battle Jack Dempsey in a tuning-up engagement need not start the National Association of Journalists Carriers to sniffling.

Rickard knows that it takes more than a Harry Wills to lend color to a ring bout. Opposites usually make interesting ring encounters. Whether Delany or Uzcudum proves winner, Dempsey would find a wonderful foil in either.

Predictions were that the Firpo-Dempsey fight would prove a disaster. It turned out the most exciting fight in recent history. They thought the Tunney-Dempsey contest would be a cakewalk for Dempsey. But Jack took a beating.

Uzcudum, powerful and big, might prove another Firpo for Dempsey; while Delany, in a smaller way, is a ringer for Tunney. Let Gene, Jack, backs away while battling. Talkie the champion, he can drop a man with one punch.

If Rickard induces Dempsey to get into the ring with either of these men, the public can rest convinced that Dempsey thinks he can come back to where he can beat Tunney.

complain against the same system of wagering.

Has the incoming tide of racing popularity halted or will it be forcibly halted? Has the point of saturation been reached?

In the opinion of the writer both greyhound and horse racing has progressed unreasonably, in certain States. The obvious relief from the situation would be for promoters to invade States where no racing exists. Instead, promoters continue saturating communities with more racing than they can stand.

The memory of what happened to St. Louis in the old days is still fresh in mind, despite the lapse of years. It was the old story of riding the public's pocketbook to death.

Five Per Cent Enough.

DOG tracks take out at least 10 per cent of the betting, plus the breakage. Many certificate horse tracks do the same or worse. There is no check on either.

The enormous returns from this form of betting indicate a murderous taxation of the public for the privilege of betting.

Down in New Orleans Col. Bradley, who controls Jefferson Park, proved that a track could be operated successfully on a 4 per cent "take," plus the breakage, making the total take something over 5 per cent. If New Orleans can do that, every other community with certificate betting can do likewise.

Under present conditions, there is no way of detecting how many tickets a race track may put in for itself after the race is run, thus cutting down the pay odds and adding a winning bet for the association.

The public should work in the direction of voting legal part-mutuel betting under the totalisator plan and state supervision. Under such conditions part-mutuel betting is the ideal solution of race-track troubles.

Inane.

MICHIGAN AGGIES' track "Springing" team recently went to Texas and came home with 14 watches among other trophies of the athletic invasion.

That's four watches each for every member of the squad. Doubtless by this time this crack quartet, the greatest sprint relay in the country, has a trunk full of watches and trophies, which they may not dispose of for money.

One wonders what happens to them? Either the men are forced to go into the jewelry game or to sit tight with a lot of useless time on their hands.

The A. A. U. rules need revision to permit the awarding of other prizes than mere watches, medals and cups. If it is permitted to give as a prize a $50 watch, why not a $55 anything? Why not let the athlete specify what it shall be, so that his house may not be choked up with watches that he can't wear and cups that he can't drink out of?

SOONER TRACK SQUAD REQUIRES BIG SHOES

By the Associated Press. NORMAN, Ok., April 14.—When the Sooner track squad at the University of Oklahoma shows its heels it puts on an exhibition. Its members wear shoes that range from 10 to 14 in size.

Fans have kept tabs since last spring, when Selby Parker won the high jump at the yearly meet here, that Coach John Jacobs had tried to fit him in time, but Parker wears fourteen and only eleven were available. The discovery was made too late to order the larger ones.

Virgil Jabe, shoe putter, wears size 14; Victor Holt and Ben Kiergan, high jumpers, wear sizes 12½ and 12 respectively; Leslie Niblack, one of the best two-mile runners in the Missouri Valley, and Ray Cornelson, half-mile, do their stunts in eleven.

Tilden's Trick Knee Giving Him Trouble, Report

One Observer Asserts Entire "Comeback" Campaign Has Flivvered.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, April 14.—William T. Tilden is all washed up and ready for the sexton, according to pained observers who have watched our Bill leaping heavily from court to court in the South.

One of them claimed today that Bill wouldn't even reach the final at Wimbledon provided he was sufficiently ill advised as to go through with his trip abroad. Another predicted that the young man's entire comeback program was out like an ex-wind.

These are dubious reports, indeed, and their most interesting feature is that you are not compelled to believe them. After observing Bill fixated over a period of years, the writer finds that great satisfaction may be derived from taking nothing for granted about him.

It Looks Very Bad.

However, if one cares to accept the reports at face value, one also must accept the fact that the 1926 Wimbledon title, the old journey this time and that probably a Frenchman will hold our national championship in singles for the second successive year.

Those Tilden returns as the old dominant personality, the downfall of the American dynasty in lawn tennis is inevitable.

Richards has turned "pro." Johnston no longer can give out 100 per cent at will; William is an in-and-outer but usually out when you want him and the others are just young fellows trying to get along.

The Tennis Association conscious of the fact that without Tilden, American prestige must be prepared to absorb one on the Van Lyke, has put in an active winter placating Will's every whim, even to his desire for the dramatic. Here the boys been wasting their kind attention, of which they have none too much?

That Demountable Knee.

Advices from practical tennis men answer in the affirmative. They say that Will's demountable knee, which dismounted gracefully in the last Davis cup matches and failed to seek the saddle again during the ensuing national championships, is getting better very rapidly.

They say that, in consequence, Will no longer is the spritely back and wing performer of other years; that, in fact, he is quite slow. In conclusion, they claim that his confidence has been impaired.

Wholly or in part, these reports may be true or, repeating by way of emphasis and for good measure, my idea is that you believe anything you hear or see of Tilden at your own risk. He may be, as alleged, one of the poorest actors on the stage; but his histrionic ability in other medias must go unchallenged. He can limp an excellent act if he cares to, and if he is serious in his avowed intention to reclaim American prestige on the courts, would he be likely to rush his preparation in such a way that he would be in top form for Southern spring tournaments?

Tilden's age is a bit against his chances of a successful comeback. I admit. But, everything considered, it might be well to see more of him and say less, before passing judgment.

STATE HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC BODY WILL SPONSOR MEET MAY 7

The Missouri State High School Athletic Association will hold a state-wide track meet, open to all qualified contestants of the member schools, on May 7. The event will mark the second major undertaking of the recently formed organization, a state basketball tournament having been conducted successfully last month.

State officials require a preliminary qualifying meet and only those entrants taking a first in one or more events will be admitted to the finals in Columbia. The St. Louis County League will hold its preliminaries on April 20, but the city public high schools are not likely to enter, since the league anticipates some difficulty with the Board of Education ruling that only championship teams from a single school may leave the city. The Preparatory League is as yet undecided.

Macdonald Smith Suffers Relapse

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, April 14. MACDONALD SMITH, one of the outstanding professional golfers of the country last year, has been ill all winter in San Francisco and has just suffered a relapse, friends here said today.

When the crack professional will be able to return East is problematical. He began to have trouble with his teeth shortly after reaching California last fall and later contracted influenza.

O'FARRELL'S ANSWERS

(1) Did Rogers Hornsby ever win the most valuable player award? (2) Who have been the winners since the custom was inaugurated?

(1) Yes. (2) National League—Dizzy Vance 1924, Rogers Hornsby 1925, Bob O'Farrell 1926, American League—George Sisler 1922, Babe Ruth 1923, Walter Johnson 1924, Roger Peckinpaugh 1925, George Burns 1926.

Runners on first and third bases with two out. Batter singles to center field. Center fielder relays the ball to second base ahead of the runner from first, forcing him out before the runner on third reaches home. Umpire rules that the score counts because the putout was not made on the batter at first base. Was he right?—ONLOOKER.

He was wrong. The third hand out was forced out and the runner does not count.

How many times did Babe Ruth strike out in the world series and what was the most times he struck out in one game?—H. F. W.

Ruth struck out twice, once in each of two games.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Elmer Ripley, who is one of the stars on the Washington professional basketball team, has signed to coach the Georgetown University basketball team next season.

Work on Public School Stadium Well Advanced

Concrete Poured in Some Sections; Stand to Be Ready in September.

Work on the new public high school athletic stadium at Kingshighway and St. Louis avenue has advanced to the concrete stage and a considerable portion of the stand is now in place. Completion of the new structure is promised for September of this year.

The league officials have heretofore encountered some difficulty in the last two years, since the lease on Handian's Park at Grand and Laclede, expired, in completing baseball and football schedules on the several inadequate high school fields. Troubles in this connection, however, will be definitely ended with the completion of the new structure, which is so designed as to embrace football, baseball and soccer fields, in addition to a quarter-mile running track. High school athletic contests have always been well attended and the 15,000 seating capacity of the new stadium should make the league self-supporting at least. The present plan will permit of future expansion so as to accommodate 10,000 additional spectators.

The concrete stands are of a horseshoe shape and the entire project as now being constructed will require an estimated expenditure of nearly $400,000. The stadium was authorized last year by the School Board during the presidency of Stephen M. Wagner.

First Two Games of Year Indicate That Athletics Are in Need of More Speed

Slow Work in Field Has Accounted for Both Defeats at Hands of Yankees, Writes John B. Foster—Grove Needs More Practice.

By John B. Foster.

NEW YORK, April 14.—The Philadelphia Athletics have been properly named as probable pennant contenders, but in the first two games of the season against the New York Yankees have seemed to lack an essential element—speed.

One of the elemental facts of the game is that the Athletics at the outset of the season are in need of more speed. The Philadelphia Athletics have been properly named as probable pennant contenders, but in the first two games of the season against the New York Yankees have seemed to lack an essential element—speed.

have to do a heap of second basing to be a right loyal first aid to Brannon, first baseman, and that the Athletics in these days must have lots of speed on the right field side of the infield.

In the first game Brannon figured in one play that he usually executes very well, and of course it had to happen in the most vital moment. Racing in to make a force out at third, he scooped up the ball in time, and failing to hold it securely, fumbled it in the air and lost the throw, so the bases were filled.

Very charitable scorers also gave Gehrig a two base hit through Collins in the first game. It was an error if ever one was made in baseball.

Some More Slow Work. In yesterday's game some more slow work was demonstrated by the Philadelphia players, particularly in the fourth inning, which brought Last Night's Fights.

By the Associated Press.
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Jimmie McDermott, Terre Haute, Ind., fought a draw with Kid Lencho, Eagle Pass, 10 rounds.

WILMINGTON, Cal.—Santiago Zorrilla, Panama, defeated Danny Kramer, Philadelphia, 10 rounds.

OCEAN PARK, Cal.—Bobby La Salle, Los Angeles, beat Scotty Inkster, Vancouver, 10 rounds.

The downfall of Pitcher Sam Gray, Pat Collins, Yankee catcher, lifted a fly which fell between Lamar and Boley and went for a double. That's slow fielding in any language.

The Athletics have the hitting and they will get the pitching. The Philadelphia players, particularly in the fourth inning, which brought the team right now stands in need of a large supply of speed.

Regarding the star pitcher on the staff, something ought to be done to change his habits as an indifferent fielder. The skill of Grove is not as great as his natural equipment. He was put into the baseball universe with as much speed as Babe Waddell ever had. He has more brains and a better disposition than Waddell ever had. As an infielder he is quite as bad as Waddell. He is also quite as bad as Todd Ramsey, who was probably the best left-handed pitcher who ever lived and perhaps the worst fielder.

It is a queer freak of nature to make a man a very good left-handed pitcher and a very indifferent infielder, and yet it has happened repeatedly. There was one very good left-handed pitcher who never received all the credit that was due him, but who was one of the best infielders in baseball history. His name is George Nix. He had been a 300 hitter he would have rivaled Hal Chase as a first baseman.

Grove Needs Practice. Grove is very long from his feet up and much of him is up when he delivers the ball. He also has a tendency to lose track of what the batter is trying to do, and that makes it easy for a man who can hunt to hit him and outmaneuver him. A batter bunted to the right in the first game with the Yankees and Groves, helplessly ignorant as to the whereabouts of the ball, started toward the third-base line. That was one thing which eased him to his defeat. But it was his personal fault, and it is a serious fault.

Grove needs lots of practice to try for infield hits and if he won't take the practice he never will become a pitcher as great as he should be, judging by his arm and field.

Outside of pitching it is not reasonable to expect that Groves will play anything else. His pitching will be good enough to hold him a job for some time. To make himself a hero he must work in a little fielding with his razor ball.

Connie Mack might assign Kid Gleason to the task of bunting hits to Groves until the young man begins to become expert enough to die them up with his nose. Then he can go into a championship game against any known baseball team on earth and probably reduce it to a frayed mental mass.

Tiger Freshman Again Sets New Golfing Record

Cassidy, 19-Year-Old, Plays Missouri U. Course Mark With a 64.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo.—Francis R. Cassidy, 19-year-old University of Missouri freshman, for the third time since coming in the fall, last week established a new record for the university golf course. His last score was 64 for the 18-hole links. Young Cassidy lowered the old record of 72 last fall to 68. Last week he went the 18 holes in a 31 and a 33, for the 64, the present record. Each score has been recognized by the university athletic board.

Cochester Brewer, director of athletics of the university, will enter Cassidy in three tournaments this spring and summer. They are the Missouri Valley, the Trans-Mississippi and the National Intercollegiate. The freshman spends a couple of hours on the course five days a week.

Cassidy came here from Elizabeth, N. J., where he last year captained a high school team which won the State championship. Cassidy possesses a medal which he won in an open competition 10-mile swimming event held last year in New Jersey, and has also played high school basketball and football.

Rickard Plans Delaney-Paulino Bout for June 22

Dempsey Will Get Chance Against Winner—Spaniard Wants 15-Round Go.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Prospects of another international fight with Jack Dempsey and Paulino Uzcudun of Spain were held out here today by Tex Rickard's announcement that he was arranging a fight between the Spaniard and Light Heavyweight champion Jack Delaney for June 22 at Yankee Stadium.

Rickard said that it was his intention to offer the former champion a bout with the winner of the affair, as a preparatory battle for a possible title fight with Tunney. There was a wrangle yesterday over the distance Delaney and Uzcudun were to fight, the ax-swinging of the Pyrenees demanding a full 15-round distance, while Delaney wanted a 10-round battle. Delaney will be conceding about 30 pounds to Uzcudun if they meet as planned. Delaney's title, of course, will not be involved. The match may be closed today.

Title Bout in Reserve.

If the Spaniard declines the match on a 10-round basis, Delaney probably will be matched on the same date, June 22, for a light heavyweight title bout with Mike McTigue. Delaney and Paulino both are recovering from ailments now. The former came out of his battle with Jimmy Malone with a "tennis elbow" and fracture of the left hand, which recently was operated on. Paulino aggravated an old injury to his side in his bout with Tom Heeney, but expects to fulfill several engagements preliminary to his next heavyweight test here.

Finnegan to Fight Chapman.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Humbert J. Fugazy, rival of Tex Rickard in the metropolitan fight promoting field, yesterday announced the signing of Honeyboy Finnegan and Red Chapman, crack Boston featherweights, for a 12-round match at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, on June 8.

Signing of the principals came within 24 hours of the New York State Athletic Commission's suggestion that such a match would clear the muddled situation that has existed in the featherweight ranks since the retirement of Louis (Kid) Kaplan, the title holder, last July. The division has had no champion since Kaplan decided he could no longer make the class weight limit of 125 pounds.

Fugazy will ask the Boxing Commission to sanction the bout as a title affair. Fugazy agreed to award the winner a diamond-studded belt, valued at $2500, to be considered ultimately the emblem of featherweight supremacy.

A higher standard of motive power in a lower priced car

FOR years the Knight sleeve-valve engine has been the motive power of Europe's finest cars—long regarded by both European and American automotive engineers as the superior type of motor.

Now modern American manufacturing methods make this fine power plant available to American motorists in the Falcon-Knight—the first Knight-engined car in the lower price range.

With a background of fifteen years of development in such fine cars as Daimler, Minerva, Panhard, Voisin, and others, the Falcon-Knight engine, designed for unusual power, flexibility, quietness and long life, sets a new high standard of motive power in the lower price, six-cylinder class.

The Falcon-Knight chassis throughout is constructed in keeping with the excellence of its power plant. Modern improvements include mechanical four-wheel brakes, seven-bearing crankshaft and oil rectifier, but these features are incidental to the importance of the Knight sleeve-valve principle.

Falcon-Knight cars in closed body types are now on display. We invite early inspection and an opportunity to arrange a demonstration.

Quarter Mile Dash Star Race At Dog Track

Reigning Regent and Rex Cantonian Entered; No Postponement, Says Management.

Greyhound Selections.

- 1—Newville Colonel. John Smith, Lost Chord Jr.
- 2—Rally McPride. Motor Speed. Shenandoah II.
- 3—Peter Pan. Racing Robbie. King Jiggs.
- 4—Rex Cantonian. Reigning Regent. Mr. Hoo Doo.
- 5—Gov. Hawke. Gay City. Farmer Pete.
- 6—Garden Park. Royal Hampton. On the Turf.
- 7—Tony O'Groats. Oakland Cal. Dora Ridge.
- 8—Capt. Mick. Winding Brick. Tiger Bill.
- 9—Lester D. Miller Boy. Warm Water.

Best—REX CANTONIAN. Rex Cantonian, Reigning Regent and Mr. Hoo Doo are prominent in the feature race at the Madison Kennel Club tonight, the fourth on the program, at a quarter mile. The management has announced that the races will not be postponed, the road to the track being passable.

Pearlman and Scaramouche have an outside chance in the feature event. Rex Cantonian, beaten last time because he failed to start with the rest, will run from the outside box and have clear sailing if he elects to stay on the rim.

In the event he "outbreaks" the field, he will go over to the rail and he difficult to overhaul. Reigning Regent finished ahead of Rex the other night as the result of beating the box. Tonight he is in the seven hole and will be tough. Mr. Hoo Doo likes the rail and has the inside position. He prefers a future, but should get going soon enough to be third.

Well Chosen Field. The eighth will bring together a well balanced field, in which Capt. Mick on his good races has the bulge. Winding Brick and Tiger Bill are the contention, but Mick is speedy and needs only to start with the others to be prominent at the finish.

Tony O'Groats, one of A. F. Keys' purse earners, is placed nicely in the seventh. He has had enough racing to make him fit and is more consistent than Oakland Cal.

The hurdle fields are gradually improving and tonight's band is the best yet assembled. Lester D. has won his last two starts convincingly and must be played back. Miller Boy is honest and will be trying. Warm Water, making his local bow, looks good for the small end. He is rather green over the sticks but has much speed on the flat.

VAN WYNN

Favored! She wants you to look correctly groomed—smarter than any other man. That's why she favors Van Wynn—the newest Van Heusen Collar.

The Van Heusen is uniquely woven of a single, curved strip of unstarched self-supporting fabric. Therefore the hardest day of wear or the longest season of laundering cannot wilt its upstanding crispness.

Both Van Heusen fit and comfort are woven into the Van Heusen curve—not, as in ordinary collars, starched or ironed in.

Even the trim, smooth fold is woven in. It falls into line naturally, without pressure from the iron, permitting the Van Heusen to be ironed flat. This feature—like the multiply fabric and the woven curve—is an exclusive Van Heusen patent. Hence Van Heusen cannot be successfully imitated.

WITNESS GIVES OATH OF MUSSOLINI FOES

Details Story of Plot to Overthrow Fascism in Trial of Tito Zaniboni.

ROME, April 14.—Carlo Quaglia, who, posing as a friend of former Deputy Tito Zaniboni, acted as a police informer for seven months prior to Zaniboni's alleged attempt on the life of Premier Mussolini in November, 1925, told the military tribunal today a detailed story of the plot to overthrow Fascism.

With his face deathly pale, despite a constant smile, Quaglia discoursed volubly for more than two hours. He did not once fully face Zaniboni who, except for three minor expostulations, maintained an attentive calm.

During his story of the plot, in which he maintained that Gen. Luigi Capello, one of the eight men on trial, subtly tried to take advantage of Zaniboni's willingness to face all dangers, Quaglia repeatedly sprang from his seat shouting: "I am not a spy! I am not an agent, provocateur!" These outbursts visibly amused Zaniboni, sitting in the prisoners' cage.

Zaniboni's Lawyer Reproved. Before Quaglia began his testimony, Zaniboni's lawyer made the public declaration that, as far as his client was concerned, the story of his former friend would be disregarded. Gen. Ferri, presiding over the tribunal, demanded a retraction of this.

At the mention of a certain woman in Quaglia's recital, Zaniboni jumped to his feet and declared evenly: "This traitor may say what he wants about my politics, but not about my morals."

Quaglia described the oath of alliance said to have been taken by the plotters and asserted he did not participate in it. At this, Zaniboni muttered: "Yes, he did. Long live liberty!"

Justifies Own Conduct. Quaglia, in addition to describing the development of the alleged conspiracy and repeating the words said to have been used by the plotters, insisted upon repeatedly justifying his own conduct. He maintained that he divulged the plot partly because of his friendship for Zaniboni and partly because of a patriotic desire to save Mussolini.

"I did it," he said, "only after I saw I could not make Zaniboni desist from his mad act, and not through fear. Zaniboni bossed me around and never asked me whether I was willing to join the plot, just taking it for granted. I am 24 years old, and have a family and a future to think of."

COUGAR STONED TO DEATH

EMMETT, Idaho.—Two road workers at Willow Creek had the courage of their ability to hurl rocks straight and true and as a result overcame a hunger-maddened cougar after a desperate battle. The cougar, apparently starving, appeared on the scene as the two men were on their way to dinner.

When the nine-foot cat flashed over the embankment and onto "Indian Jake's" shoulders, Charles Bannister, his companion, hurled a large rock that shattered the cougar's forehead. The cat then turned and attacked Bannister and Jake wounded, arose and hurled a large rock with such force that it cracked the cougar's skull.

GARRETT TALKS OF MISSION OF PARTY OF JEFFERSON

Minority Leader of House Says It Must Protect Weak Against All Sinister Efforts of Strong.

CHIEF SPEAKER AT DEMOCRATIC DINNER

Pleas for Greater Activity on Part of Young Men Theme of Others Heard at the Gathering.

Youth will be served. So some of the speakers remarked at the young Democrats' Jefferson day dinner, at Hotel Jefferson last night.

They gave instances. Alexander (not Grover) and Napoleon were young men when they crashed the gate of world affairs. And Harry H. Haves was a young man—a beautiful, strapping, said a woman speaker—when he made the Jefferson Club a city-swinging force that could carry elections.

It can be done again, was the inspiring idea of the dinner. The young men were, then, turning the affair and declaring their readiness to serve in the ranks. But the older speakers, especially Senator Haves, told them they might expect to do some of the learning as well as the following.

Theme of Local Speakers.

How to make St. Louis Democratic, or how to cut down the Republican majority here to a point where it will not upset out-State Democratic victories, was the theme of the local speakers. Not a word was said about presidential booms, though there was applause for the name of Senator Reed, and rhythmic clapping of hands when the orchestra played the "Al Smith" march, "Side-saddle of New York." But Senator Haves told how necessary it was to get the best possible candidate for Governor of Missouri. The Governor appoints the St. Louis Police Board, which Haves bawled simultaneously with the Jefferson Club, 25 years ago.

Almost as many women as men were in the gathering of nearly 600. The women, many of them members of the revived Jefferson Club, which now, it was declared, has nearly 1000 male members. The women have their own organization, the Women's Jeffersonian Democratic Club, and its banner was displayed. Among the men, gray heads and bald ones were to be seen beside the black and brown heads, but not in greater proportion than at the "Young Republicans" dinner, held in the same room two months before.

Young Congressmen Heard.

All seemed to agree that Youth was its best foot forward when Combs got into politics and public speaking. The smiling young speaker, who was quite willing to overlook this, and he went on to talk of the obliterating of factionalism, burying of dead hatreds and marching under a common banner of Democracy. He uttered tributes to Reed, to Woodrow Wilson and to Haves.

"If the crusading enthusiasm of youth is needed," he said, "the molding influences of maturity are needed also. We desire not to supplant, but to co-operate. Let us be shock troops in the fight for Jeffersonian principles."

Pleas for Personal Liberty.

Expounding Jeffersonian principles, in sense that that of Jefferson, made familiar by Senator Reed's speeches, Combs declared against Government interference with the moral, welfare or religion of the citizen. "Does the Federal Government seek to encroach upon personal liberty?" he demanded. "Stamp out such an effort! Legislators are not making laboratory experiments. They are dealing with human lives. Are we, any of us, wise enough to order the lives of our fellow men? Have we such heaven-sent, infallible wisdom? The legislator's first duty is to preserve, rather than to extinguish, human liberty."

Much heartened by the Combs speech, the toastmaster, Dwight D. Currie, declared that the young men who are rebuilding the Jefferson Club would not have to grope in the night, as their president, Kenneth Teasdale, had said they were willing to do, before seeing

Roosevelt, When President, Excoriated Those Who Made Religion a Test for Office

Two Little Known Letters of His Quoted in Book That Urges Al Smith's Nomination for Presidency.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, April 14.—Where "Freedom Falters," a book published today by Charles Scribner's Sons and written by Laurence Lyon, a Canadian, who has been a member of the British Parliament, cites two little known letters by Roosevelt on religious freedom and the presidency.

"The large Roman Catholic population in the United States," Lyon writes, "has always shown the same loyalty as other citizens in the performance of its civic duties. Roosevelt entertained no doubt upon the question. Answering someone who had written him that the mass of the people would never support a presidential candidate who was a Roman Catholic, he said:

"I believe that when you say this, you foully slander your fellow countrymen. I do not for one moment believe that the mass of our fellow citizens or any considerable number of them can be influenced by such narrow bigotry as to refuse to vote for any upright and fit man because he happens to have a different religious creed."

For Religious Freedom.

To a correspondent who wrote him about some alleged connection of Mr. Taft with the Roman Catholic Church, Roosevelt replied, Oct. 15, 1905, in the following unmistakable terms:

"If asked by Mr. Taft I should most emphatically advise against his making any declaration of his religious belief, such as your friend suggests. If there is one thing for which we stand in this country it is complete religious freedom and for the right of every man to worship his creator as his conscience dictates."

"It is an emphatic derogation of this right to cross-examine a man on his religious views before he is made a presidential candidate. If he is a good man and is fit for the office," These are the only questions he has a right to ask, and to both of these, in Mr. Taft's case, the answer must be in the affirmative. In my own Cabinet there are at present Catholics, Protestants and Jews—the Protestants being of various denominations. I am incapable of discriminating between them on the basis of their religious beliefs, judging any one of them save as to the way in which he performs his public duties. The rule of conduct applicable to Catholics, Protestants and Jews as applied to all is just as applicable as to all."

Garrett's Talk on Jefferson.

A Jefferson day dinner must have an extended speech on Jefferson. It is as necessary as a minuet at the Fashion Show, or a Lincoln speech at a Republican function. Congressman Philip J. Garrett of Tennessee, minority leader of the House, was present for this purpose. He eased into his theme with much more nearly a Jeffersonian Democrat than he was a Hamiltonian Federalist. Congressman Garrett said, "His immortal fame rests solely on his attitude toward human slavery, which was the chief issue of Jefferson, and upon his determination to maintain the Federal Union, which was the same as that of Andrew Jackson."

View of Democratic Party.

The speaker said:

"It has a mission, else it had died long ago. Its mission is to insure equality of opportunity, to keep the body of our laws free from advantage to one man at the expense of the other and to protect the weak against all sinister efforts of the strong."

"Only a few brief years ago we saw America, led by a disciple of Jefferson and sustained by a party in political sympathy, reach the most superb heights which a nation ever attained. Today we see America, under other leadership given over to materialism and selfishness, seeking and obtaining privilege as a bounty and favor."

Pleas for Harmony.

"There are so many things on which Democrats can agree," Haves said, "that it is the height of folly to divide on small issues, and on personalities. Forget the question of war and peace. Our State has a stalwart fighter in the person of Senator Reed. Let us agree to agree. Let us select the best possible man for Governor next year."

State Senator W. R. Painter of Carrollton, Representative Phil Silvers of Piedmont, and Joseph Shannon of Kansas City, were among the visiting Democrats.

NEW MICROSCOPE LAMP MADE TO BAR SHADOWS, SIDELIGHTS

Manufacturer First Had to Find Glassblower to Shape Small Horseshoe Tubes.

NEW YORK, April 14.—In announcing the development of a new microscope lamp, the Westinghouse Miniature Lamp Works in Brooklyn explains that it was first necessary "to find a man who could blow glass, and as this is now considered a lost art, the only place glassblowers are to be found nowadays is with a circus."

The order was for a lamp which could be laid on the glass slide of a microscope and illuminate whatever was on the slide. Researchers in the past have been troubled with shadows, side lights and from the flattening of perspective when light comes from above.

The lamp superintendent finally found a glassblower and got him to blow delicate horseshoe tubes, silvered inside and painted black outside except for a small streak on the inner circumference. A filament was pulled through the tube, supported by small stiff wires, and then the ends of the tube were sealed and the tube evacuated. The result was an incandescent lamp which reflects light without a shadow on minute objects placed at its center.

ROTA TO GRANT MARCONI DISSOLUTION OF MARRIAGE

Formal Announcement of Decision Expected From Vatican By End of This Month.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright 1927.

ROME, April 14.—William Marconi, wireless inventor, has been granted a dissolution of his marriage to Beatrice O'Brien by the rota of the Roman Catholic Church. Formal announcement will be made by the end of the month, according to authoritative information obtained at the Vatican today.

The rota judges had been considering the Marconi case for several weeks and reached the decision after an exhaustive survey of depositions presented by both parties. Marconi married Miss O'Brien, daughter of an Irish peer, in 1905, and was divorced under Hungarian laws in Flume several years later. There are two daughters and one son.

The divorce was contested, and therefore is not valid under Catholic law. In appealing to the rota, to confirm the separation by granting an annulment, Marconi said his marriage took place under the express stipulation that it should be dissolved at a time by mutual agreement. Since a marriage with any such stipulation is not a real marriage, according to Catholic custom, the rota judges were satisfied an annulment was justifiable.

CROSSING ATLANTIC 106TH TIME.

HAS TRAVELED 2,000,000 MILES

26 Visits to Africa and the Americas.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Claiming to be the world's champion globe traveler, Philip G. Lockhart, 70 years old, retired lawyer and millionaire of Boston, has arrived on the Hellig Olav of the Scandinavian American line, completing his 106th transatlantic voyage.

Lockhart, who is the son of the late Supreme Court Justice Charles A. Peabody of New York and a brother of Charles A. Peabody, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., made his first Atlantic crossing April 13, 1892.

Since that time he has been to Africa 26 times; Russia 32 times; Jerusalem, 24 times; the Arctic, 26 times; Constantinople, 18 times; and has traveled through Asia and Africa more than 40 times. He said he had traveled 2,000,000 miles. Peabody expects to sail again April 26 for Europe.

171.02 MILES AN HOUR SETS AMERICAN DRIVERS' RECORD

Frank Lockhart's Speed Compares Favorably With Segrave Mark, Considering Displacement.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—Race officials announce that Frank Lockhart, 24-year-old Los Angeles pilot, attained a speed of 171.02 miles an hour, the greatest ever made by an American driver in a "baby" 91.5-cubic inch displacement car, on a dry lake bed at Muroc, Cal., Monday.

Lockhart was attempting to better the world's record of 192.75 miles an hour, made March 23 at Daytona Beach, Fla., by Maj. H. O. D. Segrave, British driver, in his "mystery sunbeam." He was timed for one mile in 21.05 seconds.

Lockhart's car, a two-seater, 171.02 miles an hour record compares favorably with Maj. Segrave's world mark, because of the wide difference in the displacement of Jefferson, declaring that "Thomas Jefferson is even more important in 1927 than he was in 1787."

DR. BUTLER CALLS FASCISM CHALLENGE TO DEMOCRACY

Columbia U. President Believes
Russia Will Substitute Jeffersonian System for Communism.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 14.—Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, believes the theory of the Mussolini Government in Italy is a challenge to democracy which can be resisted only by making "our democratic doctrine efficient by retaining civil and individual liberty."

Speaking at Founder's day exercises at University of Virginia, he said the "already fading communism" in Russia would in time be replaced by a form of government based upon the teaching of Jefferson, declaring that "Thomas Jefferson is even more important in 1927 than he was in 1787."

Muslini Stops All Decorations

By Radio to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright 1927.

ROME, April 14.—Lords and ladies are no more in Fascist Italy—at least no new ones will be created for three years. Dictator Mussolini, in a short announcement, said no more decorations of any kind will be bestowed by the Government for three years. This decree temporarily abolishes the famous titles of Commendatore and Commendatore in England. The reason for the decree is to halt unseemly ambition and rivalry.

Metropolitan's Titian, Valued at $1,000,000

Called "the most important picture the Metropolitan Museum of Art ever has purchased," this portrait of Alfonso d'Este, Duke of Ferrara, and husband of Lucretia Borgia, has just been put on exhibition in New York City. It was painted in 1525 by Titian and commended by Michelangelo as the artist's finest work. The purchase was made possible by the $5,000,000 bequest of the late Frank A. Munsey.

MAN WHO SPOKE 16 LANGUAGES DIES IN ITALY A POOR MAN

Former New York Court Interpreter of Grand Jurors of Napoleon.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Antonio Frabalis, Marquis of Garaguso in Italy, but plain Mr. Frabalis in New York, where for 16 years he was a court interpreter, is dead in Naples. He spoke, wrote and taught 16 languages. With the Marquis at the time of his death was his wife, Josephine, the Countess of Castelvecchio, who is a great-granddaughter of Napoleon.

Frabalis came back to Italy six months ago to claim the estate of his father, but found it had been squandered by relatives who treated him cruelly when they discovered his disappearance. He returned to his native land a poor man," said Chief Magistrate MacDon. "The cruelty and his great disappointment brought on paralysis to which he succumbed."

A graduate of several Italian universities, from which he held the degrees of Doctor of Literature and Doctor of Philosophy, the Marquis at one time had a library of 6,000 volumes. In this country he became the editor of an Italian newspaper, translator and cataloger for the Astor Library and Italian lecturer for the Board of Education.

NAVY JOINS IN SEA RESCUE

British Destroyer Rushing to Stranded Steamer.

By the Associated Press.

GIBRALTAR, April 14.—The British destroyer Viscount is speeding to the assistance of the British steamer Collingdale, stranded near Melilla in the storm which is sweeping the northern Moroccan coast.

The destroyer made a vain effort to tow the Gibraltar lifeboat to the scene, but abandoned this because of the tremendous seas. She left alone for the scene after receipt of a message here last night from the Norwegian steamer Balto, which is also stranded, saying: "Cannot you ask the navy to send help and save 30, the crew of the steamer Collingdale? It would be a pity to lose 30 lives thus. We will try at dawn with our own lifeboat."

TWO KILLED IN TRAIN ROBBERY

Mexican Outlaws Took Boulders Down Mountainside.

By the Associated Press.

LAUREO, Tex., April 14.—Two persons were killed when Mexican bandits rolled huge boulders down on a southbound train of the National Railways of Mexico as it came out of a tunnel near San Miguel de Aline, Guanajuato, Mexico, Wednesday.

The outlaws robbed the express car but got little.

Motor Ship Sets Non-stop Record

SAN PEDRO, Cal., April 14.—Capt. Olaf Lie, master of the Norwegian tanker Nordanger, thinks his ship established a world's non-stop record for an oil carrier upon arrival from Bombay. The log of the Nordanger shows that the vessel made 10,135 miles on the journey without once stopping her powerful motors. Forty-two days were required for the voyage, and the tanker maintained an average speed of 11.1 knots an hour.

NICARAGUANS AGREE TO LET ALIEN LUMBER TRADE ALONE

Conservatives and Liberals Sign Pact Not to Molest Property or Employees.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Foreign lumber companies in Nicaragua may continue business there without molestation either by Conservative or Liberal authorities, Admiral Latimer was advised by the Navy Department.

He said that Conservative and Liberal representatives had signed an agreement which he construed as a safeguard to the lumber industry. It stipulates that none of the lumber plants, including important mahogany mills, is to be molested by either faction, and that the employees are not to be molested and that timber possessions are not to be commandeered.

NOEL DAVIS PLANS TO HOP OFF FOR PARIS IN ABOUT 10 DAYS

Naval Flyer Invents Aerial Sextant for Use in Determining His Position in Atlantic.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NORFOLK, Va., April 14.—Lieutenant-Commander Noel Davis, who will pilot the American Legion, a three-motored monoplane, in an attempted flight across the Atlantic this month, has invented an aerial sextant that may be used with equal facility night or day, and on which he will depend for accurate determination of his position during the transatlantic hop. Davis plans to hop off from New York for Paris in about 10 days.

Although not of the amphibian type, the American Legion, made buoyant with its great main gas tank, will float for days on the ocean if forced down, the flight commander believes. Emergency rations sufficient for two weeks will be carried. Two rubber boats, capable of supporting 400 pounds, which may be put into a brief case when deflated, will be part of the equipment.

LIKELY TO BAR OUT EX-KAISER

Germany's Action Indicated by Vote on Treason Bill.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 14.—Oskar Hergt, National Minister of Justice in the Marx Cabinet last night suffered a defeat considered tantamount to a rebuke when the Reichsrath, or Imperial Council, 27 to 20 adopted a motion providing for the inclusion in the new criminal code, of paragraphs making attacks or plotting against the German Republic offenses punishable by imprisonment.

Dr. Hergt had requested that action be deferred until the Government was prepared to submit its draft for the extension of the law for the defense of the Republic, which expires July 23.

As the necessary majority for the motion is assured in the Reichsrath, it is believed a majority will be available also for a Federal statute barring the return of former Kaiser Wilhelm to Germany.

U. S. SHIP LINES SHOW PROFIT

Net Earnings, of $200,000. After Deficit of $1,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The United States Lines have overcome the $1,000,000 deficit incurred last year, and already have net earnings for the present year of $200,000, President Dalton of the Merchant Fleet Corporation announces. He said this accomplishment had been made possible by the intensive campaign of the corporation for increased passenger and freight traffic and by a reduction in operating expenses.

FARMERS SUFFER, BUT DO NOT AGREE ON CURE OF ILLS

Charles Nagel Issues Partial Report of Business Men's Commission on Agriculture.

SOME COMMUNITIES VIRTUALLY BANKRUPT

However, American Standard of Living Is Maintained in Country and U. S. Sells Rice to China.

Charles Nagel, who was Secretary of Commerce and Labor under President Taft, today issued in New York a partial report of the findings of the Business Men's Commission on Agriculture, formed last November by the National Industrial Conference Board and the United States Chamber of Commerce to study farm conditions with a view to formulating a national agricultural policy. Nagel is chairman of the commission.

The commission has held nine hearings in the East, South and Middle West since January, and will conclude its work with the drafting of a report after a few more hearings in the West. Farmers, farm leaders, farm educators, economists, grain and cotton dealers, bankers, manufacturers of agricultural supplies, editors of farm papers and transportation men have been heard.

Hard Times for Farmers.

"The evidence which has been given is practically unanimous upon the fact of depression, but is varied and contradictory as to causes and remedies," Nagel said. "There is without doubt such a general agricultural depression as calls for its consideration as a national economic question. Those who have been consulted agree that the country's heritage of fertile land is being impaired, and that for some years we have been living on our agricultural capital. Some rural sections of the country, we are told, are communities, virtually bankrupt, and are for the time carried by the more prosperous urban areas of the state in which they are situated. Even the most efficient farmers seem to have done little better than hold their own, by cutting their expenditures below their accustomed standard."

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in the cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress or reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of the people, never favoring any party, always opposing privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely passing laws; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong; whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Service-at-Cost.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IT is impossible to think of anything which would prove more disastrous to St. Louis than to grant to the surface transportation company a service-at-cost franchise for 30 years, or any extended period. Service-at-cost sounds well, but it is a vicious proposition. Those who remember the cost plus contracts given by this Government for supplies and equipment during the war know what such propositions mean—taking it out of the public. And this service-at-cost is exactly the same thing in principle and practice. Even if the capitalization of the company was moderate and represented something like intrinsic values, the thing would be terribly bad. Consider human nature, politics, path of least resistance, and other elements which will enter into the service-at-cost arrangement. It means this primarily—that St. Louis will be saddled indefinitely with interest charges on the great capital now covering the street railway lines. The company will never be in danger of not getting the money for interest and dividends, and there will thus be no incentive for endeavoring to reduce the capital. No retiring of bonds by foreclosure or through earnings; always the same amount of stock.

But regardless of capitalization, consider this feature: Suppose at some future time the employees of the company demand a wage increase, reasonable or unreasonable. Is it not natural for the company to grant that rather than go through the unpleasantness and violence of a strike? The result is additional operating cost, an increase in fares. So with materials. The purchasing agent may enter the market and purchase regardless of price, as it goes into the operating costs, which strapangers must pay. The company is out nothing. And this applies to every item all along the line of management.

It seems impossible to conceive that any body of rationally minded citizens or their representatives could consider this proposition for even a minute. If there is to be a cost plus operation, then the city itself should be handling the business. JAMES V. PRESTON.

School Board Election and Women Voters

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

TWO recent editorials in the Post-Dispatch are the best addressed to the "Woman Vote." One might pause for the personification of the Woman Vote to reply, but a sincere belief that the woman vote is as unknown a quantity as the Man Vote eliminates the possibility of an authoritative rejoinder, in my opinion.

As to the statements of April 3: "We are afraid the women never wanted to vote. They only wanted the ballot, and when they got it they were satisfied. They merely framed it and hung it up as a household decoration. Now for something else." We must remind this student of political science that not all women wanted the vote. Not only was there an active body of anti-suffragists, but there were vast numbers of women who had not been accustomed to think in terms of government, who were ignorant of public affairs and profoundly indifferent to their own opportunity.

The women who were leaders in the campaign for suffrage did not consider the removal of this disability an end in itself. They recognized that these 20,000,000 newly enfranchised women represented a collective need for political education and to this end they organized the League of Women Voters. This experiment in democracy is unparalleled, and an evaluation of the effect of woman suffrage after a trial of only seven years seems rather superficial.

CITIZENNE.

The Biggest of Reed.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I WISH to express my appreciation of Mr. "Ami Wright's" answer to Mr. Allen D. Millard's criticism of James A. Reed, who does the best of the prosecutive craft and to defend the people's rights. Men of his intellect and honesty are almost a thing of the past in our Government. Someone recently wrote in this column that Reed was not constructive because he fought vote-getting bills, and bills to benefit a certain class. It is a good thing we have a man who is big enough to not put in his time trying to get a bill to his credit and who will vote against a bill which would be a detriment and keep us from going to destruction until the people can learn the truth. Senator Reed still remains big in the estimation of the people, even though they do not agree with him at all times. R. E. DWYER.

No Bi-Partisan Government Here.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WHAT'S the matter with proportional representation as a remedy for the present stalemate in the bi-partisan government of the city?

A syllabus on this proposition as applied to the Trust situation should be interesting just now. J. TENER.

JURIES OR JUDGES?

In two recent opinions involving the right of Federal Judges to lead the jury, the Federal Court of Appeals in the Eighth District makes the point that there are limits beyond which trial Judges cannot go. "A trial Judge should not be either an assisting prosecutor or a thirteenth juror," says the Eighth District Court in reversing and remanding for retrial a case from Omaha in which the presiding Judge is charged with having made his instructions to the jury an argument for conviction. In this opinion it said:

While a Judge in the Federal Courts may comment on the evidence, may express his opinion on the facts, provided he clearly leaves to the jury the decision of fact questions; yet, as was said by the Supreme Court:

"The instructions should not be argumentative. The Court cannot direct a verdict of guilty in criminal cases even if the facts are undisputed. It should not be permitted to do indirectly what it cannot do directly, and by its instructions, in effect, argue a jury into a verdict of guilty."

No less than six such rulings have been made in the last two years by the Eighth District Court, and as many as four of its six Judges have participated in writing these opinions. In reversing and remanding a case from Oklahoma this week the court said:

It is said that the Judge is not a mere moderator, that he must see to it that there is no miscarriage of justice, but with equal truth it may be said that jurors have an important and independent duty, they are not to be led by their noses nor by argument persuaded to accept the Court's estimate of the facts.

Every juror in this case must have known that the Court fully expected them to return a verdict of guilty as much as so as if they had been expressly directed to do so.

Unless there be recognized and enforced limitations to this power, then our cherished heritage has become an idle dream. "No freeman shall be taken or imprisoned or in any way destroyed, nor shall we pass upon him, nor will we send upon him, unless by the lawful judgment of his peers, or by the law of the land," a fundamental principle and right which we thought we had preserved in the Constitution itself.

The Post-Dispatch has consistently held this view. In opposing a recommendation made by the Missouri Association for Criminal Justice that State courts be given the right enjoyed by Federal Judges to comment upon cases it made the point that to do so would be to destroy the constitutional right of trial by jury. It also made this point in the Jack Daniel case, and subsequently following the protests of the Post-Dispatch against virtually setting juries aside Congressman Dyer of St. Louis introduced a bill which sought to deprive Federal Judges of the right to lead the jury.

In our opinion, the Federal Court of Appeals in the Eighth District, which has gone outside the record to sound this solemn warning, is in a most enviable and praiseworthy position. It is one to which all jurisprudence in the United States must come unless we are to substitute Judges for juries.

THE ROAD TO RIGHTEOUSNESS.

Gov. Smith of New York has signed the bill, which thus becomes a law, providing for the padlocking of theaters that present offensive plays.

No tears need be shed for the playwrights, producers or property owners who find themselves impaled by this legal postcard. But we have set out on the beckoning road of righteousness by governmental compulsion, and where will it end?

Perhaps Macaulay's New Zealander will answer the question. After doing his melancholy soliloquy on the ruins of London Bridge, will he wing his way westward and, on arriving here, thus tabloid our political evolution: Democracy, Bureaucracy, Padlockocracy?

With television functioning 100 per cent, telephone conversationalists will have all the privacy of Irvin Cobb's celebrated golfish.

IN ANSWER TO THE TRANSCRIPT.

In discussing the Sacco-Vanzetti case a few days ago, the Post-Dispatch said that some of the most influential voices in Massachusetts are raised against the treatment these two men received in the courts of that State. A notable exception is the Boston Transcript. That distinguished newspaper, whose views we have already reprinted, believes the verdict should stand.

The Transcript makes this point well worth examining:

The Supreme Court tells us plainly that to have sustained the exceptions advanced by the defense would have been to decide that no conscientious Judge, acting intelligently, could honestly have taken the view expressed by Judge Thayer.

That is the affirmative way of putting it. The Supreme Court put it in the form of a question to itself. It said:

It is not for us to determine what is to be believed. The question for us is: Could the Judge conscientiously, intelligently and honestly have reached the result he has reached?

Thus, unable to look behind the Judge's decision and for lack of any showing that he was ignorant or corrupt, the Supreme Court was compelled to say "Yes" to the question it asked itself. The rule forced the court to hold that since Judge Thayer was both honest and intelligent, he also was infallible. Bound as it was, the Supreme Court has never actually reviewed the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

With this in mind, perhaps fewer persons will flinch at another idea put forward in the Transcript, namely:

... to question the judgment now is to put on trial ... all the courts and the whole administrative conscience and intelligence of our Commonwealth.

This is a flamboyant statement of it. Still, we believe many conservative citizens are perfectly willing to put on trial a legal system under which a Supreme Court may rule on the honesty and intelligence of a Judge, but is barred from examining the correctness of his judgments.

WHAT IT'S RAINING.

It isn't raining violets, with shy but luring smiles. It isn't raining daffodils to gild the greening aisles. It isn't raining lilacs to twine in April's hair, nor arbutus to make the meadows magically fair. It isn't raining blossoms, blooms or buds upon the plain: it's raining, raining, raining, raining, raining rain.

Evidently the Cantonese do not intend going so far north that the allied army at Shanghai could get in behind them, which shows that among some of the very good Western schools their leaders attended were those on military science.

WASHINGTON'S VIGILANCE COMMITTEE.

Part of the obligation of members of the Church Service Association, in Washington, D. C., which is organizing a large force of private citizens for the enforcement of the prohibition laws, is to "spread the good word that the eighteenth amendment is a success, and will never be amended except to make it more effective."

What a howling success it is in Washington, where a force of vigilantes and spies must be organized to help the police enforce it. Finding the police unable to enforce it, the church organization has undertaken the job and is pledging all it can induce to join to spy upon their neighbors and report derelictions. A former prohibition agent has been employed to do the work laid out for him by the volunteer prohibition agents.

The laws which the church vigilance committee is organized to enforce are not laws against recognized crime, such as murder, theft and highway robbery, but sumptuary laws, designed to control private lives, habits and personal conduct of the people.

What a happy community Washington will be when neighbor spies upon the private life of neighbor, and a special law enforcement agent is hired by a church organization to act upon secret reports made by volunteer spies. We can imagine better than describe the sort of peace and serenity, friendliness and good will that will prevail in Washington.

A Washington correspondent aptly likens the situation in Washington to that in Herrin, where a similar church committee was organized and hired Glenn Young to direct its activities. The record of hostile factions, bloodshed and lawlessness at Herrin is fresh in the public mind. One of the devastating results of our great experiment in prohibition legislation is that of churches taking tyrannical sumptuary laws into their hands and trying to force people to submit to them. The church, wielding the police bludgeon to hammer righteousness into the people, offers a sorry spectacle of Christian civilization.

Speaking of relief for the farmer, the digest of who paid the income tax shows that they already have it.

"ELMER GANTRY" IN BOSTON.

The gospel of Anthony Comstock, as purveyed by District Attorney Foley of Boston, decrees that "Elmer Gantry," Sinclair Lewis' new novel, may not be sold by any bookstore in that city. Mr. Foley says it comes under the law which bans obscene literature.

In other words, Mr. Foley has given "Elmer Gantry" the most effective piece of free advertising it could get, and has made it certain that "Elmer Gantry" will excite the prurience of many persons who otherwise would never have given a thought to it.

To put it still another way, to date Mr. Foley is the outstanding press agent for "Elmer Gantry."

It was not to be expected that Secretary of War Davis and Senator Shipstead would return from the Caribbean with the same views of our activities there. They did not go down with the same views, and we have yet to hear of a sea voyage changing anybody's mind.

SOUR GRAPEJUICE.

It is with gratification that we note the dignified, strenuous efforts of many of our citizens toward the praiseworthy object of making something of grapejuice. This beverage long has been in disrepute, even before the great William Jennings Bryan endorsed it. Grapejuice was considered dubious. While it has not been proven conclusively that grapejuice has possibilities, we infer that students of the subject, by careful research, may in time evolve a better drink from it.

At any rate the pioneer experimenters who so kindly related their struggles and hardships have not labored in vain. The training in elementary chemistry they obtained must stand this nation in good stead should we have another war. Moreover, grapejuice is a tester of men's souls; it gives rise to philosophies, if not to poetry. Many St. Louisans have tasted sour grapes and remained gentlemen, they have looked upon the wine when it was anything but red, with tolerance and forbearance. They realize that the world will beat a path to the cellar door of the man who can make a better grapejuice. And after that there is the victor's crown to be won—a rosy garland waiting for the chap who can do something with near beer.

Only women in long skirts may enter the presence of the Queen of Sweden, who has seen all the knock-kneed and bow-legged women she cares about for a while.

WHAT DOES MR. FESS MEAN?

Senator Fess of Ohio has declined the appointment tendered him by Vice President Dawes to serve on the Reed investigating committee. His rambling explanation why he cannot accept the place is a shabby alibi, but one of his objections may be looked into, namely, that he is not in accord with the views of the majority of the committee.

What are the views of the committee's majority? They are found officially in the committee's report to the Senate. That report summarized the press reports of the committee's inquiry. It showed, on the sworn testimony of candidates, managers and contributors, that immense sums of money had been expended in the senatorial primaries of Pennsylvania and Illinois.

It seems fair to ask, then, just what Senator Fess means when he says he is not in accord with the committee's majority. Does he challenge the accuracy of the committee's statements of facts?

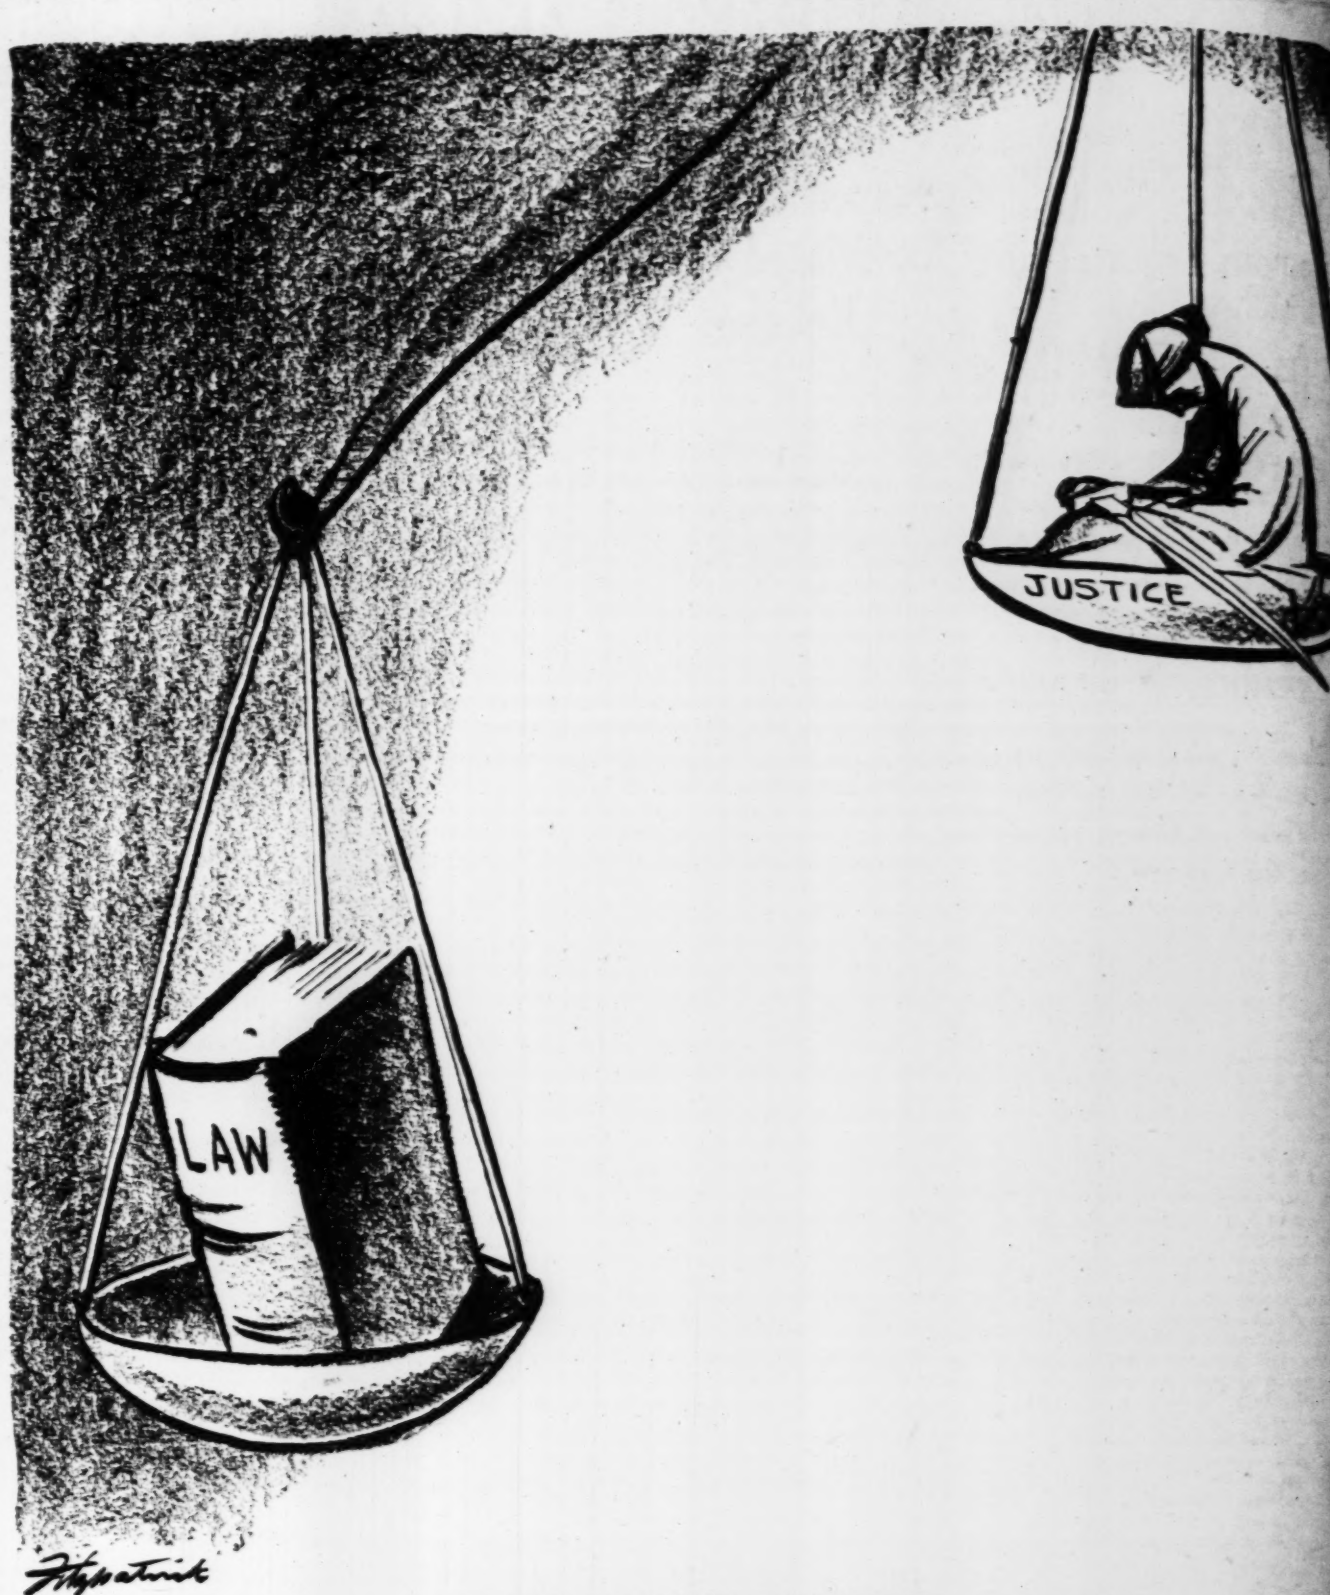

Does he challenge the committee's deduction that such vast expenditures are contrary to public policy and are, in truth, a menace to our Government and its institutions?

Does he mean that, in his opinion, it was right and proper for Vare to buy his nomination in Pennsylvania and for Smith to do the same thing in Illinois?

Does Senator Fess mean that he approves, or is willing to cover up, corruption of that character and on that scale?

We are loath to believe the Senator from Ohio wishes to be understood as condoning or indorsing such practices, but if his assertion that he is not in accord with the views of the majority of the Reed committee does not mean that, what does it mean?

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

PERSHING AND THE PRESIDENCY.

From This Week's Liberty.

HAD General Pershing been a little less the dutiful soldier, he might have come back from France on a tide of personal popularity with the A. E. F. that would probably have carried him on to the White House. That is the explanation put forth in a conversation reported in this week's Liberty by Laurence Stallings, the well known writer who was a Captain of Marines during the war. The writer points out that Presidents Taylor, Grant and Roosevelt were elected largely because of their popularity with the men whom they had commanded in the Mexican, Civil, and Spanish-American Wars. Their popularity was considerably helped along by generous gestures they were able to make towards the conquered enemy and the victorious troops, he explains. But this opportunity was denied to Pershing. As one of the characters in the conversation, a retired General puts it: "No General in the service of the United States was ever anything but magnificent to a conquered army. And Pershing would have done equally well had he had the management of the peace at Versailles. But he had properly subordinated every personal attribute to lend his army to the Allied cause. After Pershing had held his own among the veterans of Europe, he was faced with a great decision—whether to send the lads home and fail the Allies when the police job was still to be done—or keep them for a year's bullets in Germany. It would have been simple enough to have sought popularity with the million or two boys in uniform by letting up on them and entertaining them at the expense of the people of the United States. But he did nothing of the sort. He dreamed of a perfect army, which Americans had never known before, and set out to make one. Thus the troops in Germany were set to work at the trade of soldiering."

JAPANESE RIGHTS IN HAWAII.

From the Sacramento Union.

THE United States Supreme Court has handed down a decision that it is permissible for the public schools of Hawaii to teach the Japanese language. Unquestionably this decision was based not so much on the narrow interpretation of statutory law as upon broad consideration of justice and reason. Hawaii is one of the busiest ports of the meeting of East and West. Considering the rapid intermingling of racial characteristics, Hawaii is continually giving abundant proof of its capacity to accept its responsibilities as well as to realize on its opportunities. There are more Japanese Americans in the Hawaiian Islands than American Americans. It must be assumed, both for the credit of the Japanese and of the Americans charged with the conduct of the Government, that the Japanese Americans are just as proud of their citizenship as any other residents of Hawaii. It is no offense for Japanese or any other nationality in Hawaii to desire to learn to read and write Japanese. Indeed, if the people of Hawaii would make themselves wholly competent they would strive not only to learn Japanese, but several other languages as well—English, Russian, Chinese, Tagalog, French or Polynesian. The people of the United States should realize that Hawaii is something more than the abode of dusky native girls garbed in grass skirts; it is an important center of world business and world politics, where different civilizations meet and fuse.

IT'S COOLIDGE'S WAR.

From the Milwaukee Journal.

THEY can have peace in Nicaragua, so far as the Government of the United States is concerned, when they're ready to admit that our friend Senor Diaz is President. Over 2300 marines and 15 American warships are down there to make them see the point. An American army has protected Diaz from flight or capture. And so the barefoot peasants go on with their desultory killing and wounding of each other. Which ever side wins, they'll be in slavery to the damages due the people who are cutting Nicaraguan mahogany or raising bananas with Nicaraguan labor. That is the war we maintain by protecting the weaker side because it has an understanding with some American interest. We don't fire shots, our marines don't bark with the muskets and leave men wounded in the tropic sun. But we help keep that warfare alive. And the people of the United States are not told why we are doing it. It is not America's war, Congress has not declared war. It is Mr. Coolidge's and Mr. Kellogg's war.

AMERICAN ENGLISH.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

SIR RICHARD PAGET, fellow of the Physical Society of London and authority on the nature and artificial reproduction of speech sounds, complains that "uh" is becoming the national vowel of America. We are beginning, he says, to call America "Uhmuricuh" or something like that, and unless steps are taken to remedy our increasing slovenliness of speech, the inhabitants of the United States a thousand years hence will be using language much like the Chinese. But this is just the thing that Americans pride themselves about. A Virginian would not be a Virginian without his "yare" and "yarpets," nor would a Bostonian be a good citizen of Boston who did not affectionately trail out his "Ha-a-a-a-r-vard." One thing that does not worry Americans a great deal is what is going to happen to them 1000 years hence.

Of Making Many Books

By Edward Lucas White. (Doran.)

ALBINO, but one of the uncanny tales in this remarkable collection, so Mr. White informs us in an afterword, were literally nightmares experienced by the author himself at various times during the past twenty-one years and faithfully set down by him as dreamed. The one exception is based upon the nightmare of an intimate friend.

In view of this statement, which is likely to be accepted without question by anyone who has read the book, it would be interesting to know what Mr. White and his friends eat and when they eat it. Nothing short of habitual midnight dinners, consisting of Welsh rabbit, tripe and mince pie washed down with some diabolical distillation, would seem to satisfy "the fourfold root of the principle of sufficient reason" in this case. Nevertheless, however Mr. White's stomach may feel about the matter, those who have a flair for weird tales will applaud almost any indulgence that may be necessary to the production of more like these. What's a mere stomachache between friends of art? Everybody's got one.

The whole book seems saturated with an unearthly atmosphere, by virtue of which the most irrational happenings take on a absurd comingsness. Anyone who has ever enjoyed the delightful experience of somnambulism will recognize the strangely hushed and weird world wherein Mr. White's characters go about their fantastic business with such sober confidence. It is a world which no little ever entered and where nothing was ever questioned, but all is marvellously as it is because it is.

Some readers, beginning with the title story, may wonder at first what this writer has seen in the book to admire; for "Lukundoo," though a first-rate nightmare of a sort that perhaps no sane, waking person could ever invent, is likely to produce a feeling of revulsion in many. It seems rather too much the product of mince pie, and the horror in it spreads like a dark and sickening vapor over the landscape of the dream.

Happily, the initial tale is not representative, and it might be as well to begin with "Flood's Blade," a curious saga of ancient Ireland, or with the very finely wrought and strikingly original "ghost story" called "The House of the Nightmares." The impressive thing about the latter yarn is its genuine utter naturalness, no strain whatever being put upon the credulity of the reader until the very last sentence; and even then, when the reader has been shocked broad awake by an astonishing statement, he is likely to entertain weird notions with an unaccustomed hospitality.

But perhaps the most remarkable tale in the collection is that called "The Message on the Slate." It is the story of a woman who married a ghost and did not discover the fact until, after years, the coffin was opened, whereupon the spectral husband vanished into thin air. "Bosh!" you say; and bosh is right, since you are thinking of hard facts, if facts indeed be so hard as we suppose. But you haven't yet given yourself up to the sorcery of Edward Lucas White.

Those who are acquainted with Mr. White's historical novels must have been more than ordinarily impressed with their vividness, their convincing quality; and it is probable that some too read "Lukundoo and Other Stories" may hit upon an interesting suspicion as to the probable source of Mr. White's unusual power as displayed in "El Supremo" and "Andivius Hedullio."

A current magazine contains an article entitled "Have We a Literary Discourtesy America?" It is a pertinent question, in view of some very amusing phenomena, nor would it be strange if the correct answer were yes, considering the historical fact that great mob movements result in dictatorship.

This would be a happy thing to think about, were it not for another fact—that dictators generally engage in the business for their own benefit.

Bostonians are now obliged to get their "Elmer Gantry" from their private bookkeepers.

AMONG THOSE PRESENT by Louis Seyster Montrose. (Doran.)

A collection of previously published magazine stories by the woman, who, with her husband, wrote those delightfully true stories in "Town and Gown" and "Fraternity Row." These have the same characteristically sprightly touch of Mrs. Montrose, but are otherwise unremarkable. "How Two Strangers Waited for Dawn" is an effective venture into the bizarre.

FOREVER FREE, by Honore Willson Morrow. (William Morrow & Co.)

Just as Cromwell roared at the portrait painter, "Paint me, wars and all," it would have been well had someone done some roaring at this author before she undertook to recreate the first two years of White House home life of the Lincoln. Her gift for narrative and skill with detail are ample, but her attitude is too painfully pious for a complete, four-square view of Abraham Lincoln. She goes to great trouble to deny that the Great Emancipator ever told dirty stories; she palliates his agnosticism, and—wonderful to remark—she gives him an understanding and deeply sympathetic wife in Mary Todd. St. Louis U. Students and Faculty Represented at Services for Professor.

The funeral of Dr. David Hough Dolley, 48 years old, professor of pathology at St. Louis University school of medicine, who died in El Paso, Tex., Monday of tuberculosis, took place at Lebanon, Ill., yesterday afternoon. He went to El Paso Feb. 12 on leave of absence because of his illness. His condition improved, but he began to take exercises, which proved too strenuous and brought on a fatal hemorrhage.

Delegations of the faculty and student body of the university attended the funeral. Dr. Dolley is survived by a brother, Prof. J. C. Dolley of McKendree College, Lebanon, and a sister, Mrs. A. B. Massey of Danville, Ky., now traveling in Europe.

Dr. Dolley resided in a R. B. Young house at 1818 N. 17th St. He was a graduate of Randolph-Macon College in 1897 and his M. A. a year later. He was graduated in medicine at Johns Hopkins University in 1902.

For several years he was resident pathologist successively of Charity and Lakeside hospitals, Cleveland, and from 1906 to 1910 professor of pathology at the University of North Carolina medical school. For the next 12 years he held a similar position at the University of Missouri medical school. In 1922 he joined the faculty of St. Louis University.

He wrote numerous papers on professional subjects. He was a fellow of the American Medical Association and member of the American Academy for Advancement of Science, American Association of Pathologists and Bacteriologists, American Association of Anatomists, American Physical Society, Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, Phi Eta Theta and Phi Beta Phi.

THIS man has just enjoyed eight hours of refreshing sleep in a Smith & Davis ARTISTEEL Bed. Of course, he didn't want to get up. He would have enjoyed two extra hours just as much as the first eight. But now that Mr. Man must perforce abandon his bed and take up the duties of the day, is he downhearted? Far from it! No before-breakfast grouches for the man who owns an ARTISTEEL—he's fresh, clear-eyed, and buoyant—thoroughly rested by his wonderful sleep.

And the Smith & Davis ARTISTEEL Beds are just as restful to the eye as to the body! Soft, cool shades of everlasting DUCO finish—rich wood-grain effects—symmetry and proportion in every line and curve. The enduring beauty of these beds makes them a natural choice in the most exclusive St. Louis homes.

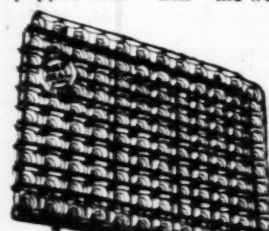

A Lifetime of Comfort

Underneath the surface beauty of an ARTISTEEL Bed is found the light, rugged permanence of the finest steel. All Smith & Davis beds are made to last a lifetime. We have been in business over a half-century. The first coil spring made in 1884 by Smith & Davis is now on exhibit in the museum of the American Steel and Wire Co., Worcester, Mass. The wire still retains its resiliency after 43 years of handling.

All ARTISTEEL Beds are equipped with the Double Anchor Reversible Rail Lock, an exclusive Smith & Davis feature. Unusual strength, absolute rigidity, and perfect fit are assured by this lock, while the ease with which it enables beds to be taken down and set up will be appreciated by anyone who has ever struggled with the usual type.

The Perfect Sleep Combination

Of course, in order to get the maximum satisfaction out of an ARTISTEEL Bed, you will want it equipped with the wonderful Smith & Davis GOLD SEAL Coil Spring—the last word in spring construction. All conceivable features to provide life-long comfort are combined in this amazing Smith & Davis achievement—and at surprisingly low cost! GENUINE Doubled-decked construction with steel band center support—no sag or "hollow" can ever develop. Specially double-tempered coils that never lose their resiliency. Added comfort assured through the use of one hundred and twenty coils in the 54" size. The closer spacing of the coils gives restful support to the body at every point. A Smith & Davis ARTISTEEL Bed and a GOLD SEAL Spring provides the ideal sleep combination "for the REST of your life."

While at your dealer's be sure to see the latest Smith & Davis sensation—the wonderful new ART-END

Day Beds everyone is talking about. Furniture dealers, interior decorators, and the general public unite in the opinion that these beautiful new creations have completely revolutionized the field.

Back in the Boxer rebellion when he was a First Lieutenant, one of his early citations for valor stated: "Gen. Sumnerall was directed to open the gates of the Philadelphia City and he did."

What he did was to climb each of the four gates, under fire, put up a chain mace where he thought shell fire would do the most good, and pushed his artillery within 10 feet, still under fire, to blow them open.

MILITARY CHIEF VISITOR IN CITY

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.
MAJOR GENERAL
C. P. SUMNERALL

CHIEF OF STAFF LINKS ARMY AND PROSPERITY

Maj.-Gen. Sumnerall Addresses Chamber of Commerce, Inspects Barracks.

The armed forces of the United States, far from being destructive forces, have been among the most important influences in the up-building of this country. Major-General Charles P. Sumnerall, Chief of Staff of the army, declared in a luncheon address today at the Chamber of Commerce.

"Our forces have been used only in the protection of our rights and in the defense of oppressed peoples," he said. "They have guaranteed to this country the integrity of its territories and they have assured to every citizen the prosperity that is now his."

"And so it is that we must always have an armed defense, for go society, banded together with the good of the individual subordinated to the good of the whole, can exist without force to guarantee its integrity."

Indorses Citizens' Training.
Gen. Sumnerall, who by virtue of his position on the staff is the army's ranking officer, declared his indorsement of military training as given in the Citizens' Military Training Camps.

"Military schooling is a prime training for good citizenship," he said. "It gives the youth an alert mind and body, a fine sense of duty to his country and is of great value in the up-building of his character, besides making him a greater asset to his country in the event of war."

General Sumnerall arrived this morning from Fort Leavenworth, and was met at Union Station by a committee headed by Gen. R. J. Spenser and Col. Moor N. Fells, commandant at Jefferson Barracks. They escorted him to the Missouri Athletic Association for breakfast and later accompanied him to the barracks for an inspection tour.

Has Striking Personality.

The welcoming committee observed that the General's lively, clean-cut face and youthfully vigorous frame gave the lie to the figures on his age, 69 years. He has been described as of striking personality as well as extraordinary record. He is a constant reader, a close student, and years ago was recognized as a foremost authority on artillery—in fact, the award to him of the Croix de Guerre with palm as "in leader of the first order" was for outstandingly developing "the technical knowledge and valor of his brigade."

His relations with his commands in action have been unusually close. Another of his many citations, that for the Distinguished Service Cross, recited that in the attack on Borgo-le-Sec in July, 1918, "with great gallantry and utter disregard of his own safety" he visited the extreme front lines in the face of heavy fire, "exhorting his men to renew the attack" and "encouraged them by his presence and example" that they "were inspired to enormous and heroic efforts, capturing Borgo-le-Sec the next morning under terrific enemy fire, and later in the day the division reached all its objectives."

Back in the Boxer rebellion when he was a First Lieutenant, one of his early citations for valor stated: "Gen. Sumnerall was directed to open the gates of the Philadelphia City and he did."

What he did was to climb each of the four gates, under fire, put up a chain mace where he thought shell fire would do the most good, and pushed his artillery within 10 feet, still under fire, to blow them open.

Woman Hurt Falling Off Porch.
Mrs. Pauline Briner, 55 years old, of 1827 La Salle street, suffered an injury to her spine at 1 p. m. yesterday when a porch railing, against which she was leaning, gave way, causing her to fall four feet to the ground. At City Hospital her condition was said to be serious.

Heart Beats Too Fast, Blames Bad Stomach
"I had stomach gas bad, making my heart beat too fast and causing weak, nervous spells. Adlerika relieved me right from the first dose."
—L. Smith.
Adlerika is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser with glycerine, buckthorn, cascara and other gas-expelling and detergent elements. It is excellent for intestinal stasis, a disease due to modern ways of living, and which is often the true cause of sour stomach, gas bloating, nervous dyspepsia and restless sleep.
Unlike most medicines, Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, giving the intestines a REAL cleansing and bringing out old poisonous matter you never thought was in your system. Even if bowels move daily, you will be surprised how much more old matter Adlerika brings out which may have been causing all your trouble. In slight disorders, like occasional constipation, GAS, bloating, indigestion or sick headache, ONE spoonful always brings relief.

Doctors Praise Adlerika
"Adlerika, in addition to intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria."
Dr. A. C. Curl: "I prescribe Adlerika with highly satisfactory results."
Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."
J. E. Buckett: "After using Adlerika I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated from my system."
Dr. F. M. P. (name withheld by request): "I use Adlerika in all bowel cases. Some require only one dose."
No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. In St. Louis at Wolff-Wilson Drug Stores.

ALL INJURED REMOVED AT ROCKSPRINGS, TEX.
Immediate Relief Work Following Tornado Completed—Death List Is 61.

By the Associated Press.
ROCKSPRINGS, Tex., April 14.—The death toll resulting from the tornado that leveled this plateau town Tuesday night was increased to 61 today when several of the injured died in a hospital at San Antonio where they had been taken last night. It was expected that several others of the more than 170 injured will die.
Immediate relief work will be virtually complete today with arrival at San Antonio of another train bearing injured from Uvalde, 75 miles south of here.
A weary game of life and death was being played today in the hospitals. Sons calling for mothers, sisters for brothers, mothers separated from their babies, some left in Uvalde, others divided in San Antonio, and still others separated forever by death, kept the scenes of tragedy alive.
Two women and a child died at San Antonio last night. They were identified as Mrs. Lottie Fleming, Nicholletta, Montell, 7 years old, and a Mrs. Adams, James Horland, 40, died on a Red Cross train yesterday, while an unidentified woman succumbed in one of the army airplanes sent from Kelley Field to speed removal of the injured.
Wet Roads Delay Traffic.
Highways weakened by floods and slippery mountain roads slowed traffic from several nearby towns. Although a narrow gauge railroad connects Camp Wood with Uvalde, it proved of little value in solving transportation problems. A fleet of ambulances and automobiles was used to remove the injured.
With cavalrymen from Fort Clark on guard, relief work was well organized. About 20 of the dead were buried in a hillside cemetery yesterday. Dynamite was used to dig the graves while volunteer carpenters made caskets when a supply from a nearby town was exhausted. Several of the dead were unidentified.
Communication was restored when a field telephone was connected with the San Angelo Standard.

Frank Rahmstorf, San Antonio, told of watching the tornado for several miles. He said the funnel-shaped cloud raced along with its greenish-yellow center set off by black background.
"At 2:29 o'clock it broke," he said. "Just a swish and a roar, then havoc and pandemonium. The cloud dipped and hit the town. For six minutes it raged and roared. I took refuge in the Valentine Hotel and managed to seek refuge under heavy timbers and escaped unhurt. I could see trees, human beings, houses and large buildings hurled about like so much chaff. Scantlings were lifted and driven through the bodies of victims who sought to escape."
Four square miles razed.
The tornado swept virtually everything from an area of approximately four square miles. It seemed to center here.
Rain and wind continued yesterday to cause damage at widely separated places in Texas. Several towns reported many injured and heavy damage from high winds.
Two churches were destroyed at Robert Lee, in Southeast Texas; a baby was killed and farm buildings wrecked at Watson, between Dallas and Fort Worth; houses were also damaged at Ballinger, Lufkin and Atlanta, while several persons were injured in Bell and Denton Counties.

FATHER'S TESTIMONY SENDS SON TO WORKHOUSE FOR 4 YEARS
Sam H. Basell, 28, sentenced on charges of non-support of wife and 3 children.
A father's testimony yesterday resulted in a sentence of four years in the workhouse for his son, Provisional Judge Grodzki, in the Court of Criminal Correction, sentenced Sam H. Basell, 28 years old, to serve one year for each of four charges of non-support of his wife and three children.
Joseph Basell, father of the defendant, testified that since his son deserted them last January he had supported his son's wife, Mrs. Marie Basell, and their children, who also live at the La Salle street address. The children are Margaret, 6; Joseph, 3; and Louise, 5 months. The younger Basell was arrested in Kansas two weeks ago.

SMITH STARTS TRANSIT STUDY FOR NEW YORK

St. Louis Engineer Thinks Realty Owners Should Share Costs of Extension.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, April 14.—With apparent unbounded confidence in his ability to untangle New York's complicated transit situation and present a solution in about five months, Charles E. Smith, St. Louis consulting engineer, engaged by Comptroller Berry as his special adviser, arrived yesterday. He announced he would go to work this morning.
The engineer, who will consult with the Comptroller's special committee composed of George W. Wingate, Jesse Straus, E. H. Gary and Elisha Walker, said he came without any preconceived ideas of what should be done. He thinks, however, that real estate owners benefited by transit extensions should pay part of the cost. On that point he is in close harmony with John H. Delaney, chairman of the Board of Transportation.
"In the last analysis," he said, "service has to be paid for by someone. But whether by the taxpayers or by assessment, or whether it should all come from the car riders, I don't know. I haven't come to any definite conclusion even in respect to my own city. The conclusion all over the country that increases in property values ought to be made to pay a part of the cost impress me."

DISCHARGED BUTLER CAUSES $50,000 SEIZURE OF LIQUOR Leads Dry Raid on Wealthy Manufacturer's Estate at West Caldwell (N. J.).
By the Associated Press.
NEWARK, N. J., April 14.—Guy Johnson, a disgruntled butler, who turned informer a day after his dismissal, led prohibition authorities in a raid on the home of J. Bayard Kirkpatrick, wealthy lawyer and manufacturer, on his 10-acre West Caldwell estate, where spirits and wines valued at $50,000 were seized.
Ira Leeves, state prohibition administrator, in announcing the confiscation, said he believed that 143 quarts of Scotch whisky found in Kirkpatrick's cellar was part of the cargo alleged to have been landed in Barataria Bay two weeks ago from the steam trawler Kilmarnock.

Three Persons Jump to Their Death
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 14.—Three persons, two men and a woman, ended their lives by jumping from high windows. Mrs. Martha Simonson Auerbach, 36 years old, mother of two children, leaped from a twelfth floor window of a hotel. Bernard J. Reilly, 36, was fatally injured when he jumped through a fifth floor window at County Hospital. H. H. Morell, 58, jumped from the seventh floor of a hotel. A note attributed his act to alcohol.

EDGAR F. ALLEN.

"DADDY" ALLEN TO VIEW ST. LOUIS HOSPITALS

Founder of International Society for Care of Children Attends Meeting.

The State Commission for Crippled Children, formed recently by a joint resolution of the Legislature, met today at Washington University Medical School, to inspect institutions for the care of crippled children. The Missouri Association for Crippled Children will meet tomorrow, opening at the medical school and holding sessions in other places.

"Daddy" Edgar F. Allen of Elyria, O., former lumber dealer and bank president, who for 18 years has given his time to this work, was here today to confer with the commission. His particular interest in this work began when, after the death of his son, he built a memorial hospital, with a wing for children. He then learned for the first time of the number of crippled children needing care, and of the number who, for lack of care, incurred permanent disabilities and deformities.

He organized the International Society for Crippled Children five years ago, and has formed State organizations in 30 states, seeking to treat the matter as a state problem, with such help as could be obtained from municipalities and organizations.

"Daddy" Allen has learned that there are approximately 12,000 crippled children in Missouri. He has visited other parts of the State in the last few days, and has formed local and county organizations in Kansas City, St. Joseph and Springfield.

The members of the State Commission are Dr. A. H. Baldwin, Pleasant Hill, chairman; State Senator Rayless Gordon of Liberty; Dr. James Stewart, secretary of the State Board of Health; Charles A. Lee, State Superintendent of Schools, and Dr. Rex Dively of Kansas City.

The institutions included in today's tour of inspection were the Shriners' Hospital, St. Louis Children's Hospital, Missouri Baptist Sanitarium and Elias Michael School.

The opening meeting of the Missouri Association will be held at the medical school auditorium, Euclid and Scott avenues, at 10 a. m. tomorrow. A luncheon meeting will be held at 12:15 in the St. Louis ballroom, at which "Daddy" Allen will speak. Frank Mead, president of the Optimists' Club, will preside, and Good Friday music will be sung by the Shriners' choir.

At the Wednesday Club auditorium, Taylor avenue and Westminster place, at 4 p. m. tomorrow, "Daddy" Allen and Dr. M. L. Klinefelter will speak. Tomorrow night's meeting will be held in the St. Louis Medical Society auditorium, 3329 Lindell boulevard. Allen and Dr. Archer O'Reilly will be speakers, and motion pictures will be shown. The general public is invited to the afternoon and night meetings.

EAMON DE VALERA TO ADDRESS ST. LOUIS MEETING SUNDAY

Sinn Fein Chief to Appear Under Auspices of Association for Recognition of Irish Republic.

Eamon de Valera, Sinn Fein leader and bitter opponent of the present Irish Free State Government, will speak in St. Louis Sunday evening at a mass meeting, under auspices of the local branch of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, in Sheldon Memorial.

De Valera is in this country to oppose the civil suit brought by the present Irish Free State to have paid to it the $2,500,000 which was collected by representatives of the Sinn Feiners as a loan from American citizens four years ago. De Valera is one of the trustees of the fund.

REFUSES 15 YEARS FOR HOLDUP AND GETS 25

Negro, Declining to Plead Guilty, Given Longest Sentence in Years by Jury.

A 25-year penitentiary sentence for first-degree robbery—the heaviest punishment for that crime agreed upon by a St. Louis jury in recent years—was recorded yesterday.

The law provides punishment ranging from five years to life for first-degree robbery—robbery with a deadly weapon—but juries, with few exceptions, have inclined toward the minimum punishment, and some juries have acquitted first offenders because they thought a five-year sentence too severe. A change in sentiment was noted two weeks ago when one robber received a 20-year sentence and other criminals also were given more than the average punishment.

Rejecting the State's offer to let him off with a 15-year sentence if he would plead guilty of first-degree robbery, Silas Mosley, 24 years old, a Negro, went on trial yesterday before a jury in Circuit Judge Osage's Court, with Assistant Circuit Attorney Bowcock demanding life imprisonment.

"Do you think life imprisonment is too severe for a robber who endangers the life of people by shooting to make his escape?" Bowcock had asked the jurors. Each had replied, "No."

The defendant was identified by James H. Dulak, clerk of the court, as the armed robber who held him up and escaped with $50 on Jan. 27. He was identified by Patrolman John Pipkin as the man who ran from the store and fired several shots at the policeman, when the patrolman called on him to halt and fired. The man got away.

Mosley was arrested later that day in a room at 123 S. Carver avenue, where he was employed as janitor. He testified he was asleep in his room at the time of the robbery.

The jury deliberated 30 minutes and returned a verdict of guilty with the 25-year sentence. Mosley will seek a new trial.

MAYOR DISCUSSES BRIDGE WITH RAILROAD OFFICIALS

Executive Conference Forerunner of Submission of Plan for Use of Structure.

Mayor Miller held an executive conference today, on the use of the Municipal Bridge by the railroads, with C. B. Fox, president, and Henry S. Caulfield, attorney for the Alton & Southern Railroad, and William C. Carter, president, and Daniel N. Kirby, attorney for the Manufacturers' Railway.

The Mayor expects to have ready when the Board of Aldermen convenes next week a plan for use of the bridge, believed to be similar to his former plan, which was that all roads should use the bridge on a per car basis. He proposed the building of a connection with Terminal roads by building an approach in Gratiot street, extending to Fourteenth street, and connecting up the Manufacturers' road by building the southern approach authorized in the bond issue. The Alton & Southern already is connected with the bridge.

FORSYTHE BL. WILL BE PAVED

University City Waits for Better Weather, Engineer Says.

University City will pave Forsythe boulevard from Big Bend boulevard to the Clayton city limits as soon as weather conditions permit and bids for the work are considered, city Engineer Heimbecker of University City declared today. The statement was in reply to St. Louis County Highway Engineer Jablonsky, who yesterday threatened to ask the County Court to deduct the cost of the improvement from University City's road taxes.

Temporary repairs on the road have been delayed by the heavy rains. Heimbecker said, and it previously would have been impractical to lay a permanent paving until construction of a sewer along the roadway was finished and the ground had settled. This part of Forsythe boulevard has been almost impassable for weeks. The sewer has been completed.

CHOLERA AGAIN KILLING HOGS

One St. Clair County Farmer Loses 30; Vaccination Urged.

John Grosmann, a farmer of Millstadt township, yesterday reported to R. W. Tiltman of the St. Clair County Farm Bureau that he had lost 30 hogs in the last few days as a result of hog cholera, which again is breaking out in St. Clair County.

Last year a similar epidemic caused St. Clair County farmers a loss of approximately $50,000 in stock. Tiltman advises that all hogs be vaccinated, and the supply of hog cholera serum was exhausted, and this accounted for the wholesale deaths among hogs in the county. This year, however, sufficient serum is on hand to meet an emergency.

Ehrhardt; secretary, Arthur Fochler; treasurer, Val Hirth; leaders of turning, James Erwin Krummerich and Arthur Neff; custodian, Michael Marcurio; trustees, Charles N. Tolach and Fred J. Nagen. George Seibel of Pittsburgh, Pa., president of the national society, will visit the Belleville unit Monday evening.

GANGSTER, OUT ON BOND FOR ROBBERY, ARRESTED AGAIN

Charged With Personating an Officer and Threatening to Arrest a Woman.

Peter McTigue, 19-year-old Cuckoo gangster, under bond on a robbery charge, was arrested last night, charged with disturbance of the peace and personating an officer. He stopped Miss Frances Miller on the street, declaring he was a detective-sergeant, and followed her to the rooming house at 1302 Hickory street, where she lives. Threatening to arrest her, James Edwards, proprietor of the house, sent for Patrolman Scharr, who made the arrest. McTigue is one of three gangsters arrested April 3 with $150 in stolen money after an automobile chase which followed the holdup of a news agency at 4481 Finney avenue.

SUGARS ARE STRONG; OILS RULE WEAK

General Price Movement on Stock Exchange Again Higher Despite Selling Attacks Against Certain Points.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 14.—Strength of the sugar stocks and weakness of the oil stocks were the contrasting features in today's stock market. The general price movement was again toward higher levels despite occasional selling attacks against supposedly vulnerable specialties. Call money rates held relatively firm, but this was expected in view of the heavy mid-month demand for funds.

Closing Is Firm.
The closing was firm. Renewed liquidation of the Burns Brothers issues, the "A" shares dropping over 8 points and the "B" shares nearly 5, caused a sharp realization elsewhere, which carried a number of stocks down a point or so in the final hour. Subsequent bidding for Atlantic Refining, Freeport, Texas, Colorado Fuel, Corn Products and Coca Cola, the last three named attaining new peak prices, caused a resumption of the forward movement in the late dealings. Total sales approximated 2,000,000 shares.

Buying of Sugars Reflected the Recent Rise in Commodity Prices, and the Improved Outlook for the Principal Producing and Refining Companies. Disappointing first quarter earnings and continued heavy over-production were the principal factors behind the selling of the oils. Although Houston and General Asphalt displayed independent strength.

Public utilities were accumulated on the strength of steadily rising earnings. Laclede Gas, Consolidated Gas preferred and Montana Power all touching their best prices since 1925 or longer. General Motors, which had been a steady performer, duplicated its recent high record of 18 1/2 and U. S. Steel common was firm despite the reported falling off in production to around 95 percent of capacity. Regardless of the denial of merger rumors, a brisk demand continued for the independent steels.

Price movements in the rails were more mixed than usual. Atchafalaya moved up to a new record peak for all time and sharp gains were recorded by Louisville and Nashville and Kansas City Southern, but Union Pacific, Lehigh Valley, Atlantic Coast Line and the Western Maryland issues were under selling pressure. Irregularly higher at the start of market, Commercial Solvents B. U. S. Steel, Iron Pipe, Lambert, Pathe and Baldwin opened 1 to 2 1/2 points higher. Air Reduction opened at points higher at a new high record. Tobacco Products showed an initial loss of 1 point and Maryland Oil sagged to the lowest level since 1925.

Pre-Holiday Readjustment.
The usual pre-holiday readjustment of speculative accounts imparted widespread irregularity to the early price movement. Selling pressure was again directed against the oil shares, but operations for the rise continued in a selected assortment of amusement, pipe, chemical, public utility, food, independent steel and railroad equipment shares. Commercial Solvents B quickly extended its gain to nearly 7 points. U. S. Steel Iron Pipe to 4 and Warner Bros. Pictures A to 5 1/2. Special buying was reported in Cuba Co. and Consolidated Railways of Cuba, both of which recorded substantial gains. The announcement that more than half of the world's gold was held in this country, furnished the basis for almost unlimited credit, had a bullish effect on speculative sentiment.

Bank Rate Cut.
Reduction in the Bank of France discount rate from 5 1/2 to 5 percent had no appreciable effect on Paris exchange, demand bills ruling around 331 cents. Dollar sterling held steady around 34.83-16, and Italian lire crossed 5 cents for the first time in several years.

Renewal Rate 1/2 Per Cent.
Commercial Solvents B, which had touched a new peak of 35 1/2, early collapsed to 34 1/2 at midday, but the market otherwise reflected growing strength, with heavy accumulation in progress of the sugar, public utility and office appliance issues. South Porto Rico Sugar jumped 7 1/2 points. Remington Typewriter stock, which today opened at 37 1/2, advanced to 40 1/2. Montana Power, Otis Steel prior preferred, Allis-Chalmers and Paico-Detroit Motor, all touched new record figures at 132. The renewal rate for call loans which carry over until Monday was continued at 4 1/2 percent.

Bunker Headed for Caribbean.
NEW YORK, April 14.—S. H. Bunker Hunt, head of the Bunker Hunt & Co. oil company, is expected to head a fleet of oil tankers to the Caribbean Sea, where they will be used to transport oil from the Gulf of Mexico to the West Indies and South America.

The early demand was anticipated by buyers holding the volume tapering off later in the month. The cotton market's reaction to the late profit on long cotton was probably increased by the fact that the weather was still in poor condition in the South, but otherwise there were no other factors influencing the market fairly active. At midday July was selling at 60¢ 7/8 and August 60¢ 1/2.

TOWNS WRECKED, MANY DEAD
IN MEDITERRANEAN STORM

Four Vessels Known to Have Been Reached and $10,000,000 Is Property Loss.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, April 14.—An undetermined number of lives have been lost and at least four vessels wrecked along the coasts of Spain and Morocco by the storm which started Tuesday, over the Mediterranean. Hundreds of fishing smacks are missing and it is thought many fisherfolk have been drowned. Dispatches through Spain this afternoon estimated the property damage at about $10,000,000. Several buildings were swept off the Gibraltar Coast and the piers and village there are inundated, the population being forced to flee.

In Melilla, on the Moroccan coast, buildings were blown down by a hurricane and the shops, even in protected quarters, were obliged to close. All activities have ceased except ineffective attempts to rescue those in distress at sea.

HAVERSTICK BROTHERS LOSE
FIGHT FOR RELEASE ON WRITS

Danville (Ill.) Officers Snap Handcuffs on Pair When Judge Denies Application.

Floyd Haverstick, alias Washburn, liquor runner of the Indianapolis-St. Louis trade, and his brother, Harry Haverstick, today were denied release on habeas corpus writs, and will be taken to Danville, Ill., to be tried for robbery.

When Circuit Judge Ossing denied the prisoners' application for writs, Sheriff M. D. Grimes and Chief of Police William Ryan of Danville snapped handcuffs on the brothers and marched them to Police Headquarters. The party will go to Danville in Chief Ryan's armored automobile, with sub-machine guns and a gas pistol in readiness for any attempt by associates of the prisoners to overpower the guards.

The Haversticks are charged with robbing Freeman Wright, a "traveling salesman," on the highway near Danville. Wright was charged with perjury, having repudiated his original identification of the Haversticks, but this charge was dismissed today and he was turned over to Federal authorities for removal to Belleville where he and the Haversticks are jointly charged with transporting liquor.

COUNT SALM THINKS EX-WIFE
STILL IS IN LOVE WITH HIM

Her Smile, Bestowed in Court After Divorce, Convinces Him—Will See His Son.

PARIS, April 14.—The case in which Countess Salm, formerly Miss Millicent Rogers of New York, got an absolute divorce, with the custody of her son, Peter, was heard in Camera. She asked for the divorce on ground of non-support. The Count's application for a separation was based on desertion. As Austrian law does not provide for full divorce, he petitioned for a separation, which also was granted.

Paris lawyers expressed surprise today over the speed with which the case was settled, as under the usual course it would have taken at least a month longer.

Leaving the courtroom, the Count held open the door for the Countess. In return she gave him a dazzling smile. Then he is reported to have told a friend: "I believe she still loves me. I am sure she is the only woman I ever did or can love. Money never entered my mind as far as she was concerned."

By the court ruling, Count Salm is to have the right to see their son, in the United States at the present time, at certain periods, which may be made longer as the boy grows older. He is to have a voice in arranging for the boy's education, it having been agreed that Peter shall study in European schools for at least two years.

BERGER, MO., SALOONKEEPER
FINED $450 IN U. S. COURT

Christ Hug Pleads Guilty After Volunteer Informers Obtain Evidence.

Christ Hug, saloon keeper of Berger, Mo., who was informed on by volunteer dry law enforcement agents of the town, pleaded guilty in Federal Court here today of selling whisky and was fined $450 by Federal Judge Davis.

Two weeks ago Wesley Noedel, another resident of Berger, was sentenced to 60 days in jail for selling whisky. The same volunteer workers obtained the evidence against Hug as they did against Noedel.

The prosecutions are the outcome of a small town feud between those who called themselves "the better element" and the others "the rougher element."

50 Men Land 1500-Pound Shark.
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 14.—A "hammerhead" shark, measuring 11 feet 6 inches, and weighing more than 1500 pounds has been hooked off the beach pier. It required the efforts of 50 men to land the fish. The "hammerhead" is not considered a man-eating shark.

THE WOMAN OF IT

—By—

Marguerite Mooers Marshall.

Retaining the Best Features of Each."

THE new woman is adopting man's way in love—

So we are informed by Mrs.

Kolonay, Soviet Ambassador to Mexico, in "Red Love," her new novel.

Is the new woman doing any such thing—

Or should she?

What is woman's way in love?

It is the way of intelligence.

The way of romantic technique.

The way of self-sacrificing tenderness.

near.

The woman's love is more likely than the man's

To choose a mate intelligently.

Left to himself a man usually loves a woman who will make him unhappy.

The man who falls in love with the RIGHT woman is the one with whom SHE falls in love.

And whom she therefore proceeds to grab, before he is lost in the shuffle.

The woman in love is not ashamed to be romantic.

She is not afraid to set love to beautiful words.

Even to write poetry about it.

She tells her lover just why she thinks him so wonderful.

She sees and tries to hold love's glamour.

There is, finally, woman's deep tenderness, loyalty, self-sacrifice in loving.

The way she waits on her man.

Endures his grouches when he is ill.

Goes without the clothes, the recreations, even the food she likes best.

Because he doesn't like them and there isn't enough money to please both tastes.

What is man's way in love?

It is the way of intensity.

The way of tolerance.

The way of courage.

When a man is in love he is freed from certain absurd inhibitions which still dominate the too-ladylike woman.

In love there should be no room for ice, or even for frost.

The man who loves a woman usually mixes more tolerance with his love

Than she puts into hers.

He doesn't try to make her over.

Or to censor her dress, habits, friends, pleasures.

He loves her "as is" and lovingly tolerates her faults and sill-inesses.

Finally, a man in love is more likely than a woman

To keep his courage.

He isn't in the habit of dying, or even of suing for breach of promise.

When he is jilted.

He is brave enough not to try to hold love to the letter.

When the spirit has gone.

He doesn't whine, or weep.

When his love endures and hers falls.

Each way in love has its good points.

But why should the woman adopt the man's way?

More than the man the woman's?

There is a better plan—

There could be a wonderful love, for both man and woman.

"Retaining," as the late Mr. Munsey would have said, "the best features of each."

Men could copy intelligence, romantic technique, self-sacrifice tenderness from the love of women.

While the love of men could teach women intensity, tolerance and courage.

So true it is that in love both sexes

Have a world to learn—from each other!

Tempering the Wind to the Unshorn Lamb.

THE woman of it. Are you not with me in sounding a loud

"Praise be to Allah" that New York shears are proclaiming the ultimate fall of the bob, that long-hair is at last permitted and that the Tyranny of the Bobbed is nearing its end?

We have long looked at our own fine brown baby hair, tucked into a soft and always unruly swirl—looked and suffered the knowledge that we were not considered smart, when minus a hat, because we refused to submit to a good clipping.

We and the little blonde sister, who tucks her short (by nature) locks into a soft coil at her neck, have long since reached the stage where,

when invited to meet any woman, kind, we have chorused resignedly:

"Well, we suppose they, too, will try to bob us! We'll HAVE to go through all that again, and explain once more that we are not the kind to be bobbed."

Friends and foes, beau loves and business cohorts have expressed unfeigned surprise that we have declined to have long hair. We have explained countless times that our hair is too fine and soft, that we would look dreadful if shorn, and that we have the type of face which cannot be plastered by a cut-

-dried wave—all in vain. The verdict is always: "You both would look STUNNING bobbed."

One day we did convince "our one beloved, after we were tired of hearing him try to bob us, too.

Then he arrived, our hair was perfed, plastered down well behind the ears and done in a tight little knob. He looked aghast and forgot to give us the usual loving greeting.

We looked the skinned rat we had been. He would, and it was a relief to him when we later revealed to him the old simple coiffure. But one necessary horror.

SUE TO LOU

philosopher.

Before long it will be talking to you like a philosopher.

You get in return what you give the child.

Also, Dr. Coe

insists that young America is fully as much interested in information about airplanes, automobiles and submarines, as he would be in Jack in the Beanstalk or Aladdin and his Wonderful Lamp.

Ah, indeed, Dr. Coe—well, maybe he is—maybe that's what's the matter with him.

Don't you want the American child to have any imagination at all, pray tell? Do you want him to grow up a horrid Gradgrind, with nothing but facts and figures in his poor little, starved and starving brain?

Besides, fairy tales live forever, and so do poems.

Facts change every day in the week.

The airplane that was built one way yesterday is built on an entirely different plan today. The automobile that was the very last at thing in facts two years ago will be a poor old mistake along about the time that little Johnny ought to begin to hear about it.

What? No Aladdin, no Mother
